MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL ENGAGE IN FIRST BATTLE OF THE YEAR

Fire Works in Aldermanic Chamber When Council Cuts Out Ash Department Foreman's Salary—Brown Says He Will Retain Wilson Despite Any Action on Part of the Councilors

Worked lightning played about the aldermanic chamber at city hall last night as the mayor and city council crossed swords in their first clash of the year.

The breaking point was reached when the council voted to cut out from the estimates of the ash collection department the salary of the superintendent, Sutton Wilson. The mayor was in the chamber at the time.

Asking permission to address the council, the mayor told the councilors that they could cut out any item they pleased, but that the total appropriation was what really counted in the end.

"You have no executive powers," he said. "I have all the power. Cut out the superintendent's salary if you will—your power ends right there. All the powers formerly vested in the municipal council, I now hold.

"Cut out Mr. Wilson's pay, but I'll keep him there just the same. I say he is needed and I want him and that settles it."

President Bagley cut in with the remark: "There's that antagonistic spirit of yours showing up again, Mr. Mayor."

Several councilors were on their feet seeking recognition by the chair, all eager to take up the question for their body.

Councilor Gallagher was recognized. "Get down to business, Mr. Mayor," he said. "Go right with us and we will go right with you. Executive powers are divided 50-50 between you and this council. Your executive power is to

N. E. RECOVERING FROM BIG STORM

Swollen Rivers, Flooded Streets, Tangled Wires, Etc., Follow Severe Storm

One Death—40 Women Marooned in Theatre Carried Out by Police

40 Passengers Shaken up When Car Left Rails and Crashed Into Curb

BOSTON, March 8.—Swollen rivers, flooded highways, blocked traction tracks, tangled wires, derailed trolley cars and stalled automobiles were left today as local effects of a rain and wind storm that swept New England last night. One death and several injuries were attributed to the storm.

Worcester Man Killed

Garson Rafter, 30, was killed at Worcester when the driving rain prevented him from seeing an automobile as he stepped from behind a trolley car.

Forty-two passengers were shaken up and several were injured when a trolley car left the runway rails in the Dorchester district and brought up against the street curbing after tearing up 30 feet of pavement.

Richard Carlton, 73 years old, was carried off his feet by the high wind in Woburn and suffered a broken leg.

Forty women and girls, marooned in a Weymouth moving picture theatre by a miniature flood, were carried on the backs of police and theatre employees to high ground.

The Merrimack, Connecticut, Blackstone and other New England rivers were reported rising, clogged with floating ice. Water was running four feet and eight inches over the new Amoskeag dam at Manchester, N. H., and was sloshing through the concrete foundations of a new power station.

Rowboats Used in Streets

Rowboats were used in the streets of South Deerfield and Essex Junction, Vt. Motor vehicles were stalled and many roads were closed by floods in western Massachusetts. The Central Vermont railway line at "Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., was blocked by a bank of earth which slid across the tracks. Railroad traffic was interrupted near Springfield on the Connecticut River division of the Easthampton branch of the Boston & Maine R. R. by washouts and earth-clogged rails. Several trolley cars were derailed in Lowell by sand washed on the tracks.

Church Spire Blown Off

The metal spire attached to the cupola of St. John's Catholic church in Cambridge was blown to the ground. Leslie Knowles was buried with his automobile when his barn collapsed in East Weymouth. Firemen extricated him. A barn was toppled over in Lynn.

Power Plant Explosion

Provincetown was without electricity after a power plant explosion, believed to have been caused by the breaking of wires under pressure of the gale. Two theatres were abandoned by audiences as a result. Electric lights, telephones and telegraph stations in other localities were put out of commission. Hundreds of trees were blown down and cellars were flooded in many parts of New England.

FLASHBOARDS ARE TORN AWAY

Water in River is Several Feet Over Dam at Pawtucket Falls

Acres of Ice Broken by Last Night's Storm Makes Big Commotion

More than 200 feet of flashboards on the Pawtucketville dam were torn from their fastenings last night by the sudden breaking up of many acres of heavy ice from the dam rim back as far as the Gage Ice houses, resulting in a rush of immense masses of jagged ice cakes that piled high and crashed down on the wooden structure that tops the great dam cap.

With a noise that could be heard miles away, the onrushing ice, piling in great heaps and tumbling about in the rushing river current, plunged into the flashboards on the Lowell side of the river a far out as a point just beyond the middle of the stream. As the big cakes smashed down in the high water, swirled over the rim and descended to the rocks below, many thousands of feet of lumber used to construct the flashboards went down the stream in a torrent of whirling wood.

ILLEGAL COMPENSATION

8000 Government Employees Not Entitled to Benefits of Retirement Act

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Approximately 8,000 government employees, holding their positions by presidential order, are held to be not entitled to the benefits of the retirement act, in an opinion rendered by Attorney General Daugherty and transmitted to the interior department which administers the act.

Secretary Fall in accounting the opinion today said that out of 8,000 employees who have been retired under the act, 6,000 had been receiving compensation illegally, and that upon receipt of the attorney general's ruling an order was issued that no more certificates for payment be issued.

DIRECTING THE CHILD'S EDUCATION

The members of the Parent Teachers' association of the Charles V. Morley school had the privilege of hearing Miss Susan Ginn, director of vocational guidance of the Boston public schools, at their regular monthly meeting yesterday.

Miss Ginn said that a child is best adapted to and direct his or her education along that line. She said a child must not be permitted to elect his or her own course of study and choose one that his or her chum had found interesting or easy or again because his or her parent had been successful in that line. The choice must be made, she said, by careful studying of the report card and consultation with the teacher.

"The old idea of one line of work being of higher grade socially than another has been somewhat changed," said Miss Ginn, "and the idea of doing one thing well is being emphasized. The whole object of education is to make good citizens who will be of value to the community. So we have our vocational schools, technical schools and academies, all planned for different studies, but of equal value, educationally."

Miss Ginn said that some parents are inclined to throw too much responsibility on the schools and as the child in school only a short time compared to the time he has at home, the greater influence should come from the home, but it will take all the sympathy and patience of the parents and teachers to bring the adolescent child safely and happily through the great change.

SHAKEUP BY G.O.P. COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, March 8.—In a shakeup today by the republican committee on committees of the house, Representative Andrew of Massachusetts was assigned to naval affairs.

SENATE FIGHT IN FULL SWING

G. O. P. Leader Opens Battle With Strong Appeal for Ratification

Declares Failure Would Endanger Naval Limitation Pact

No Entangling Commitments and No Provisions Contrary to U. S. Traditions

WASHINGTON, March 8.—With opposition forces organizing for the fray, the senate fight over the four power Pacific treaty promises to get into full swing today when Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, delivered his speech in defense of the pact.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, planned to follow Senator Lodge in an address favoring his two proposed reservations to the treaty and it appeared likely that a general discussion would develop terminating the preliminary bill which has marked the treaty debate thus far.

That opponents are organizing to press their fight on the treaty was assured today through the knowledge that the senate will have a preliminary hearing on the measure after consultation by Senator Borah, republican, and some of the friends of former President Wilson.

Just how far the sentiments of Mr. Wilson himself may be reflected in the understanding thus effected by the "irreconcilable" leader or how far reaching the understanding may be, has not been revealed.

Sen. Lodge Defends Pact

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and exhibition of naval limitation agreement in peace in the Pacific was described in the senate today, by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, and a member of the American delegation to the four power Pacific treaty.

The Anglo-Japanese arrangement, Senator Lodge declared, was regarded by the delegation as "the most dangerous element" in this government's relations with the Far East. He asserted that if the four power pact with its clause abrogating the alliance failed, the situation as "the most dangerous element" in this government's relations with the Far East.

No Entangling Commitments

No entangling commitments are contained in the treaty, he asserted, and no provisions contrary to American traditions. He characterized it as "only an experiment" but added that it was one that must succeed if the United States is to make good its professed desire to take the lead in guiding the world toward peace.

Declaring he desired to "tell the senate with entire frankness" the motion which actuated the American delegation, Mr. Lodge said:

"For a month and more before the conference met, the American delegation was in session almost every day. We tried to determine and mark out the course which the American delegation, with whom rested the responsibility of initiating all the work of the conference, should follow. The delegation was in complete accord as to the policies to be pursued. The shadow of politics or of personal feeling never rested for a moment upon our deliberations."

American Delegates United

"The American delegates were united in the desire to secure results from the conference which would promote the peace of the world, reduce in some measure the burdens of taxation imposed by the existence of armies and fleets and the competition of armaments and protect the future peace and safety of the United States. We were of one mind in agreeing that if we were to have any measure of success we must think in terms of peace and not in terms of war. It was our earnest hope that in a portion of the earth's surface at least, we could do something to substitute the assurance of peace for the arrangements and calculations of war."

Three Great Objectives

"Actuated by these beliefs and by this spirit, we were clearly of opinion that there lay before us three great objectives, three dominant purposes to be attained. One was the termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The next was an agreement between

PATROLMAN WILL FACE SERIOUS CHARGE AT HEARING

Lowell Man, Accused of Illegally Keeping Liquor, Says He Paid $400 for Protection —Patrolman Alleged to Have Accepted the Money Will Be Given Hearing This Evening

A Lowell patrolman, 10 years a member of the force, and at the present time said to be on the night shift will face an investigating body of three of his superior officers tonight following a complaint made to Acting Superintendent of Police W. C. MacBryne by a local man, who has been charged with illegally keeping liquor, that he paid $400 to the patrolman in question to secure protection against raids.

The names of the men involved have been kept in the dark and in fact the whole matter was being conducted quietly until newspaper men uncovered the facts and put the matter up to Superintendent MacBryne this morning.

Mr. MacBryne admitted that there was foundation for the rumor and finally said that Deputy Hugh Downey and Captain Peter and Altkuson had been appointed by him to sit at tonight's investigation. According to Mr. MacBryne if the investigating tribunal finds sufficient cause he will prefer charges against the patrolman, allow him to retain counsel and give him a public hearing. Mr. MacBryne will not be present at tonight's hearing which is to be a private one.

The reason for putting the soft pedal on the affair, according to the acting superintendent, is that there is sufficient foundation to the charge and that it may be only an attempt to vent personal spite. He said that he did not want any officer publicly held up unless there were sufficient grounds for so doing.

It was admitted, however, that the person making the charge intends to bring four others to the hearing tonight to substantiate his allegations. The result of the investigating board's findings will be communicated to the superintendent immediately following the investigation. If there is sufficient cause for a hearing the patrolman will be suspended; otherwise he may be given a clean bill.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Increase of Salaries for Women Assistant Physical Instructors Discussed

Francis J. O'Brien Elected Assistant Physical Instructor—Other Business

That the salaries of the women assistant physical instructors in the elementary schools be raised from $1200 to $1800 so as to bring them on a level with the pay of the men assistants, was the substance of a motion presented at last evening's meeting of the school board by Dr. Slaughter. After some discussion, however, it was voted to lay the matter on the table as it was felt that increases in salaries at this time would result in having other employees of the department come forward with demands for increases.

Francis J. O'Brien was elected assistant physical instructor. The meeting, which was scheduled for 7:30 o'clock was called to order at 8:55 o'clock with all members present. Mrs. Pearson, who was out of town, in the course of the meeting there was a lengthy discussion of physical training in the elementary and high school grades, and Americanization was also the subject of considerable discussion. Mr. Delaney coming out flatly with a statement that that part of the school's program is being overdone, stating that more attention should be given to the physical training of the children than to adults who are employed in the mills. "We should Americanize our school children and leave the foreign adults alone," he said.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read Mr. Sullivan said the motion he made at the last meeting was misconstrued by the public at large and particularly by the members of the Teachers' organization. He said the intent of his motion was to prevent regular teachers who teach day and evening classes from teaching Americanization classes, feeling that this was too much of a physical burden for any woman. He wished it understood that he did not intend in any way to prevent day teachers from teaching evening classes.

The report of the committee on rules was adopted as submitted. George Russell filed a request to be allowed to take pictures of graduating classes in the high and elementary schools, but the request was laid on the table. Several applications for positions to teach at the high school were placed on file. On recommendation of the military instructors at the high school, the date of the annual regimental examinations was changed from October to June, as it was felt that such a change would be of great benefit to the members of the regiment.

A request was received from a teacher for permission to allow Maj. Joyce and Business Agent Williams to conduct a movie show in one of the school buildings for the benefit of the school fund. Mr. Delaney noticed if such an entertainment would not conflict with the state fire laws and Major Joyce replied his machine was perfectly safe and could be operated in any home or building without interfering with the fire laws. The request was laid on the table.

At the request of the Lowell Electric Light Corp., the chairman was authorized to sign a written agreement allowing the company to transmit its school lines in Sycamore street with its wires in order supply service to the Sycamore street school. Principal Harris of the high school announced that the date for the evening high school graduation had been set as April 4 and he requested the board to make an appropriation for the exercises. The sum of $100 was appropriated.

Physical Culture
At this point Mr. Delaney moved that regular business be suspended in order to give Messrs. MacIntyre and Joyce an opportunity to tell the board what has been done in the line of physical culture in the schools and also to speak on future plans. The motion was carried.

Mr. MacIntyre then outlined what has been done in the schools since he was elected supervisor of physical training, saying that the various schools have been divided into groups, each instructor being assigned 35 or 36 classes. He said the instructors were given instructions to watch closely for state law violations in the pupils and that such cases were to be reported to the physical department or other officials whenever necessary. He told of the various exercises the children are put through and said he believed in segregating the sexes in the junior high schools, as the exercises for the boys in such schools should not be the same as for girls. Mr. MacIntyre answered numerous questions and he stated that at the present time the department compares favorably with physical departments of other cities of the size of Lowell.

A general discussion on physical training followed during which Dr. Meehan said he has figured out that 20 per cent of the children's time is being taken up by physical training and recreation. Mr. Molloy stated that the physical training is in accordance with a state law. Mr. Delaney said he believed if the schools are to have physical training, it should be thoroughly done and Mr. Lambert replied, "We can't get rid of it."

"Then, let's do it right," said Mr. Delaney.

Mr. Delaney wanted to know if some of the physical training could not be given during the recess period, and Mr. Molloy replied that there was a decided objection to taking up, the time of recess with a school program.

Dr. Slaughter Explained
Major Joyce was then called upon to explain what had been done in the line of fire drills and the prevention of accidents. He stated that as a result of his work with the children high commendation has been received from state officials and he said his safety-first campaign resulted in reducing greatly the number of accidents in this city. Questioned by Mr. Lambert, the major said there was nothing being done along that line now, for he has not the time to devote to it.

Dr. Slaughter asked if it would not be beneficial for the girls to wear bloomers during the physical training period, and Major Joyce replied it would be the best thing ever for them. Dr. Meehan said he believes with the physical culture and other facts there is no time left for study.

Miss Downey, president of the Teachers' organization, spoke in behalf of her organization, and said the teachers had three requests to make to the board. First, to install a no-school signal that would be distinctly heard in all parts of the city; second, to reconsider the ruling recently made, forbidding the sale of candy in the schools; and third, an interpretation of the recent motion made by Mr. Sullivan, dealing with the teaching of two class sessions. At this point Mr. Sullivan explained the intent of his motion and this brought about a lengthy discussion, the main point of which was how and when did the teachers who teach Americanization classes in the mills at noon eat luncheon. Mr. Clinty, another member of the Teachers' association, also spoke on the matter and he said the state refused to pay the cost of the Americanization classes, and it insists upon trained teachers. It was at this point that Mr. Delaney stated that Americanization was being overdone and that the school children should be looked after first.

Assistant Physical Instructor
The regular business of the department was then resumed and on recommendation of the supervisor of janitors, Cornelius J. Barnes, a temporary janitor, was elected permanently. Miss Mary A. Dignan was elected a permanent janitor. On motion of Mr. Sullivan, Miss Mary A. Dignan was elected teacher of sewing in the elementary schools. Mr. Delaney moved that Francis J. O'Brien be elected an assistant physical instructor and Dr. Slaughter moved that the matter be laid on the table in fairness to other candidates. Dr. Slaughter's motion was defeated and Mr. O'Brien was elected to the position. Mr. Lambert, Dr. Meehan and Dr. Slaughter voting in the negative.

The name of Joseph Duffy was brought forward by Mr. Sullivan for physical instructor at the high school. Dr. Slaughter opposed the election of Mr. Duffy on the ground that she did not know of the man's qualifications for the position. Mr. MacIntyre said he would make an ideal coach. Questioned by Mr. Lambert, Mr. MacIntyre said there was no need of a physical instructor at the school at the present time. Mr. Sullivan then changed the wording of his motion from physical instructor to permanent coach, but on motion of Mr. Lambert the matter was laid on the table until the next meeting.

The board voted to purchase 150 copies of Cowley's history of Lowell at 35 cents a copy. Dr. Slaughter then moved that the salaries of the women assistant physical instructors be raised to the level of that of the men, saying that inasmuch as the women are now entitled to vote and that they are doing as much work as the men, they should receive the same compensation. Mr. MacIntyre said the only difference in the work on the part of the men was that they have outside athletics after school hours. Major Joyce said the women working with him are doing the same work as he is. There was further discussion and finally on motion of Mrs. Donovan the matter was laid on the table.

Mr. Delaney moved and it was so voted that the salary of Mr. O'Brien be fixed at the regular schedule. Mr. Lambert stated that if he voted against Mr. O'Brien it was not because he had anything against him, but it was simply because Mr. MacIntyre had repeated on two different occasions during the meeting that his department was well manned and that additional instructors were not needed at the present time. Mr. Delaney said the Greenhough school had been neglected as far as physical training is concerned and it was for the benefit of the people of his district that he presented Mr. O'Brien's name.

PARK BOARD MEETING

Annual Report of Supt. Kernan Accepted by Board—
Other Business

The acceptance of Supt. John W. Kernan's annual report and a special report made on survey of city trees since the winter storms, embraced the chief business to come before the monthly meeting of the park commission held last night in city hall. It was voted to furnish a foreman from the park department to supervise gangs of men, recruited under the $30,000 emergency act, which will repair damaged trees along the Pawtucket highway. The move came as the result of two propositions submitted by Supt. of Streets Doherty. His first proposition was the one accepted while the other, to furnish the park department with gangs from the emergency fund for general tree work, was not accepted. This latter offer was turned down because the commissioners thought little good could be accomplished by unskilled hands, working in three-day shifts only.

An opinion was received from the city solicitor which disposed with the borrowing of money for an emergency fund or a permanent fund for repairing damaged trees. The opinion was adverse.

It was voted to have bids received for the printing of the annual report.

A petition was received from Ivan O. Small and others asking that shade trees be set out in Arcadia avenue. The request was granted and left with the tree committee for fulfillment.

Councilor Chadwick of ward 8 appeared before the board with an urgent request that work on Lincoln park would not be lost sight of even though the park department's appropriation got a severe slicing in the city council.

It was voted to give Mrs. C. F. Hunt permission to have a tree removed at 26 Blanks street, the cost to be borne by her. On a petition from Charles Miller, a damaged poplar tree at 312 Boylston street will be removed. Payson Lunt of 41 Grove street asked that two trees be removed. It was voted to try removing these trees rather than removing them. A. J. Chastin asked to have removed a horse chestnut tree at 63 Branch street. The request was granted with the stipulation that the petitioner bear the expense. Atty. Arthur L. Eno appeared for Mr. Coult.

Mr. Kernan was complimented highly by the commissioners for his excellent report. A few of the recommendations in it were talked over, but no action taken on them. The tree survey report was accompanied by 45 photographs showing the condition of damaged trees in all parts of the city. The pictures were taken by Charles P. Preston of the city engineer's office.

Supt. Kernan's Report
Supt. John W. Kernan submitted an exhaustive report and stresses the necessity of park area expansion. He said, however, that he had not altered the belief expressed in earlier reports, that the full development of a park is something that should be carried on slowly and with great care.

Useful and valuable as are these different areas already secured, the report reads, I see in them but a fragment of the work that is clearly set for our performance. A few opportunities that in all human probability would never have remained available after this decade, have been utilized, while other projects scarcely less essential, have been daily slipping away or growing more difficult.

So although we have made a showing upon the map, we are brought to realize more and more, both from our own daily experiences as we study our project, and from every bit of testimony that comes to us from other cities, that a more comprehensive way must sooner or later be adopted in dealing with a great civic necessity. Since this necessity comes about largely through the growth of the outlying districts, it may well be considered as one of the necessary penalties of prosperity.

For the future, the work which is required of this department is constantly increasing in difficulty and amount. For instance, in acquiring added tracts to our system; at first rough preliminary plans were all that were desired. Now, accurate topographical maps of large areas must be made; many questions and calls in connection with the purchase of land require attention. Deeds must be drawn, the descriptions of which involves considerable work in some cases. A great many projects remain to be studied in a preliminary way, and this work must not be allowed to drop because some excellent addition to our park system might be lost through lack of knowledge of its merits, and the need of haste. It is in the interest of true economy that accurate and sufficient information should be obtained about these projects, in order that no mistake, which would be costly to rectify later, should be made in purchasing land.

Report on Trees
That part of the superintendent's report dealing with trees, included the following:

The work of planting and caring for street trees should not be underestimated. The planting of young trees along the street tends to give to the city a character, which makes a good first impression to a stranger. While we appreciate that this work enhances the beauty of our city, the healthfulness it creates, is even more important.

A few years ago we managed to inaugurate a street tree planting campaign, taking some one street in each section of the city which was practically bare of trees, and setting out young ones. Thus far we have used two species, the Norway maple and the pin oak; both of which seemed to thrive well. Because of our failure to get funds we have only been able to set out in the neighborhood of two hundred a year, which is small indeed, considering the fact that one of our sister cities sets out several thousand.

In the matter of trimming and pruning trees it should be done, two after nooning in the case of trees, thus eliminating the risk of time going from one job to another. After the pruning, all cuts should be disinfected, preventing entrance of disease and insuring rapid healing. Properly done, all dead wood, interfering branches, and branches hanging lower than ten feet from the sidewalk, are removed. The tops of soft-wooded trees should also be cut back, so as to prevent development of slender heights, thereby growing more sturdy and shapely. No work of this nature by any of the public service corporations or even individuals, is permitted except under our supervision and direction.

On November 28th our city was visited by a severe ice and sleet storm, the like of which few inhabitants have ever witnessed. Trees were even uprooted and many branches broken off but entangled were not only broken off but entangled in a net work of live wires, in all parts of our city. Many valuable specimen trees in our parks were destroyed, which time alone can repair.

We started at once to clear up the debris, employing a large force of men and teams. Our progress was

Senate Fight on Treaty Begins

The five principal allied and associated powers seated at the table for a reduction of naval armaments. The third was to accomplish all that was possible to help her in such ways as to help her in the establishment of a free and independent government and particularly to secure the restoration of the great province of Shantung to the Chinese empire to which it rightfully belonged.

"We succeeded before the close of the conference in attaining all these objects. The treaty now before us terminates the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Personally I believe that it involves the United States in no obligation except to meet with the other signatories and consult in case of any controversy arising or in case of aggression by some outside power not a signatory. I repeat that I think the only obligation existing in this treaty, and the main purpose of the treaty is attained by the termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Most Dangerous Element

"It is not necessary for me to go into detail as to the reasons for my opinion as to the great importance of this single achievement. It is sufficient to say that in my judgment, the Anglo-Japanese alliance was the most dangerous element in our relations with the Far East and with the Pacific. Wars come from suspicions which develop into hatred and hatred which develop into war. The Anglo-Japanese alliance caused a growing feeling of suspicion not only in the United States but in Canada. On the other side it tended to give a backbone to Japan which encouraged the war spirit and large preparations both by land and sea for future conflict. It immobilized England and prevented the exercise of her influence in the East for the cause of peace, and peace is distinctly in her interest in that great region. That menace to peace is removed by the four power treaty.

Removal of Alliance Complete

"I have already shown the total difference which exists between the treaty and the Anglo-Japanese alliance. There is no likeness between that alliance and this treaty. Far from taking the place of the other, this treaty simply enabled England and Australia and New Zealand to take part in terminating the alliance. The removal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which is complete, created the situation in which it was possible to bring about an agreement for the reduction of naval armaments. While that alliance existed a reduction of naval armaments was difficult if not impracticable.

"Senators should bear in mind that the defeat of the four power treaty would endanger the treaty for the limitation of naval armaments, and the failure of the naval treaty would shock and startle the world and bitterly disappoint the American people. We must not forget the close relation between the two treaties. The defeat of the four power treaty would mean the failure of the conference. Let there be no illusion on that point.

To Promote Peace of World

"The purpose of the American delegation in the conference and, I think, of all other members of the conference besides those of the United States, was to endeavor to do something at once practical and concrete which would promote the peace of the world. They believed that this could be done without alliances or penalties. Such experiments have been made in the past in isolated instances but I venture to assert that never has the experiment been attempted on such a scale or under similar conditions. We have passed through a war the like of which the world has never seen. The misery and the horrors of the great war must never come again. If we can do anything to stop it, we must try our best to secure this great result.

"I know it is only an experiment, but I have faith to believe that the better instincts of mankind are with us in the effort. If we continue to preach suspicion and hatred of other nations, if we decline to deal with them and believe that they all are actuated by the basest of motives, nothing can ever be done. I have faith to believe that his effort, illustrated by this treaty now before us, will have a large and real result in maintaining the world's peace. If we fail, who can look for the future is dark indeed.

Defeat Not in U. S. History

"The best hope of the world for a future where peace may prevail and wars diminish is in the people of the United States. If we fail, who can hope to succeed? We called this conference. We proposed the treaty, agreements and declarations in which the conference culminated. Are we now to stumble and fall at the threshold of the undertaking which we designed and brought to fulfillment? Are we to sink back into a sullen solitude, a prey to dark suspicions, a hermit nation armed to the teeth and looking forward always to war as inseparable from the existence of mankind upon the earth?

MOVIES OF MAINE

COAST, LAKES, ETC.

PORTLAND, Me., March 8.—Organization of the Dingo Film Co. for the purpose of producing motion pictures of the Maine coast, lakes, rivers and villages as described by foremost authors, was announced today. One or more of Longfellow's poems will form the basis of early productions, it was understood.

The corporation, a close one without bonds or stock to sell, was financed by business and professional men to carry out any program its directors might wish to undertake. John Calvin Stevens, a local architect, is president.

RAILROAD STATION

DESTROYED BY FIRE

TAUNTON, March 8.—The station of the New Haven road at North Tavistock was totally destroyed by fire this morning. The fire started at the telegraph switchboard, probably from wires crossed with a heavier current. Aid was called from Taunton. An empty freight car was also burned. Railroad officials were unable this morning to estimate the loss.

SPIRIT FAILS TO WALK

HALIFAX, N. S., March 8.—(By the Associated Press.) Obviously embarrassed by the presence of so many strange men in his favorite haunt, the ghost of Antigonish did not walk last night. This was the substance of a bulletin issued today by Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, director of the American Institute of Scientific Research, who came all the way from New York to make the restless spirit's acquaintance.

Woolens stay soft and fleecy washed this way, says Carter, maker of knit underwear

Lever Bros. Co.,
Cambridge, Mass.

Gentlemen:

We took several infants' shirts and had them washed in Lux the average number of times a shirt is washed before the baby outgrows it. At the end of these washings the shirts were soft and fleecy and as unshrunk as if washed in water alone.

These tests prove to our entire satisfaction that a mother cannot do better than to wash her baby woolens in Lux.

The success with Lux is due not merely to its flake form, which makes all rubbing unnecessary, but to the fact that its lather is exceptionally mild and cleansing. A soap or soap flake at all harsh "felts" or shrinks wool.

We are willing to say, without qualification, that Lux will not shrink or injure woolens and we heartily recommend it for laundering them.

Very truly yours,

"SLEEPING SICKNESS"

Number of Deaths From Lethargic Encephalitis in 1920 Was 1505

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—The department of commerce, through the bureau of the census, has today issued a statement showing the number of deaths in 1920 from lethargic encephalitis, which is often called in this country "sleeping sickness," although the true "sleeping sickness" is a very different disease found principally in Africa.

In 1920 in the death registration area of the United States lethargic encephalitis was given as a cause of death 1505 deaths, as against 532 in 1919, giving mortality rates, respectively, of 1.7 and 0.7 per 100,000 population.

Cities are credited with 1129 of the 1505 deaths and rural sections with 376, with rates, respectively, of 2.6 and 0.5 per 100,000.

The white population with 1153 deaths from lethargic encephalitis has a rate of 1.8 per 100,000 population, while the colored population with only 52 deaths has a rate of 0.7. Males and females contribute about equally to the total deaths from this cause, with 731 males and 774 females.

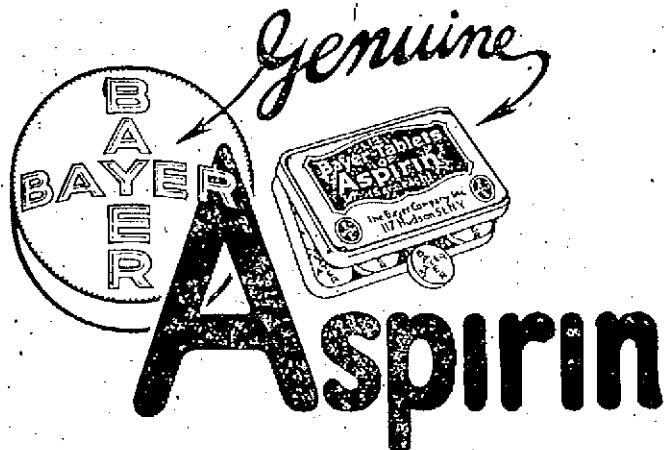

More of these deaths appear for persons aged 20 to 29 than for any other age group, though nearly as many are found for the age groups of 30 to 39 and 40 to 49, and no age group escapes entirely.

Massachusetts had 53 deaths from this cause, Maine 5, New Hampshire 2, Rhode Island 8, Connecticut 40.

Charles F. Richardson Will

On March 9, 1897, the late C. H. Coburn, at that time president of the Lowell Humane society, appointed Charles F. Richardson agent of the society, to succeed the retiring agent, James F. Drury, who had held the office for seven years. Therefore, Agent Richardson completes 25 years of service tomorrow, and in this time has watched the society expand immeasurably; for at the beginning the agent had a desk in a law office at 71 Central street and worked alone, while at the present time he has a spacious office, with a private sanctum attached, at 238 Central street.

At the time of his appointment the present agent had a desk in the office of Attorneys Thomas J. Enright and Frederick Lawton, now judges of the superior and district courts, respectively, in the building at 71 Central street, known as Tyler's block, now occupied by bowling alleys. After Judge Lawton's appointment to the bench he remained with Judge Enright until in was designated to preside over the police, now the district court. Thus he and the district court judge were associated for 16 years. After Judge Enright's appointment, he removed to his present quarters in the old Boston and Maine depot building.

The Lowell Humane society was organized in May, 1873, for the care of neglected and abused children and animals. Becoming agent during the presidency of Charles H. Coburn in 1897, Mr. Richardson has been the society's agent during more than half of its period of existence, and has served consecutively under the following presidents: Judge Frederic A. Fisher,

PICKETS IN BIG DEMONSTRATION

Several Hundred Crossed East Providence Line Into Phillipsdale This Morning

Labor Leaders Declare All Workers in Mill Controlled by Sayles Interests Quit

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 8.—Several hundred pickets crossed the East Providence line into Phillipsdale this morning and made a demonstration near the Glenlyon Dye works controlled by the Sayles interests. Labor leaders claimed that practically all the workers joined their ranks. A similar demonstration was made yesterday at this plant but it brought no result.

HOW TWO WOMEN ESCAPED OPERATIONS

Doctor Advised Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"Both of my sides swelled and hurt me so that I could not move or do any of my work. There was heavy pressure and pain through my lower organs and the doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for these troubles. He said I had this one chance, and if the Vegetable Compound did not help me nothing but an operation would do. After taking several bottles I felt it was helping me and now I am able to do my own work. If my testimonial will help others I shall be glad for them to read it and hope your Vegetable Compound will do them as much good as it did me." —Mrs. WM. LOCKMAN, 513 N. 4th St., St. Joseph, Mo.

White Plains, N. Y.—"I had such a pain that I could hardly walk and the doctor said that I needed an operation. I was sick for a year before I started taking your medicine and I could not work. I saw your advertisement in a little book and that is how I came to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E.

About 150 persons are employed at this plant. Special details of police from Attleboro were on duty at the plants of the Crown Manufacturing Co., and Home Bleach & Dye Works just over the Attleboro line this morning. A detail of soldiers also took up positions on the Rhode Island side of the line. This was occasioned by disorder said to have broken out among strike sympathizers last night when stones were thrown at workers leaving the plants and at the buildings. It was said that one of the windows of the Home Bleach & Dye works building was broken. The demonstration this morning was noisy but not violent. Soldiers say they threw stones which had been piled up near the boundary line into the river. Officials of the Sayles Co. say that the strike at Phillipsdale was confined to the Glenlyon Dye works and about 50 of the 100 employees there went out. The strike has not, they say, affected the Glenlyon Print Works located at the same place.

JOBS ON OATS
The following bids on one car of white clipped oats for the street department were opened this morning in the office of the city purchasing agent: Wesley M. Willard, 55 cents per bushel; Joseph Sullivan, 55 cents; Paul Vigeant, 55 1/2 cents; Foster Grain Co., 54 1/2 cents.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results From an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten goes to the stomach much like garbage sores in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Epsom Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effecting and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While the salts are in the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Epsom Salts is inexpensive and is made from the salt of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

Compromise to Settle Strike

There was reported quiet early today. Heavy picketing was the rule, and mass demonstrations were made at several plants which are in operation. There was no disorder.

Labor leaders at mass meetings last night announced the terms of the new plan of the state board which is a compromise. The board's proposal is that the 48-hour week be retained and that the operatives accept a wage cut of 10 per cent.

William H. Dorrlett, organizer for the Amalgamated Textile Workers, leader of the strike in the Pawtucket valley, announced that the new plan of the state board would be considered by the general strike committee at 10 o'clock.

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Kate Elinore and Sam Williams, who are entertaining many friends at the R. F. Keith Theatre this week, have probably the funniest act in which they have ever appeared.

Wanted—A Cook in its title, and Miss Elinore's impersonations are the last word in comedy effects. It is one of the year's best attractions. Rao Eleanor Hall and her brother are also on this bill, giving a specially good musical act. Miss Ball is a violinist is probably the best in vaudeville, and her brother, the cellist, is a splendid musician. "The Me" which Walter Fenner & Co. appear, is an odd little comedy, with a lot of unusual twists to it. The remainder of the bill is of high standard, including: Faber & McGowan, in "The Comrade"; Roy & Arthur, in a juggling comedy; Florence Brady, a real jazz singer, and Van & Tyson, snappy dancers.

THE STRAND
The last showing of one of the best triple-feature bills of the season will be made today at the Strand. If you have not seen it, be sure and avail yourself of the limited opportunity today. Viola Dana in "There Are No Villains," a secret service story, William Rawlinson in "Cheated Hearts," and Buster Keaton in "The Playhouse." It's a great bill and has wide variety.

Beginning with matinee on Thursday and continuing through the remainder of the week the management will present Rudyard Kipling's masterpiece, "Without Benefit of Clergy," written by himself for the screen. It tells in a most artistic manner and is wonderfully entertaining way of the love of an Englishman for a Hindu girl. The story is a beautiful one. It was but an episode in his life, but it was his whole existence. It is termed the screen's greatest triumph.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square Theatre of "Forever," Cecil De Munnice's Paramount production of the noted novel, "Peter Ibbotson." William Reid and Elsie Ferguson are in the leading roles. Tomorrow there will be a complete change of program. The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be in keeping with the observance of the 10th annual Paramount week, which is being celebrated in theatres all over the country this week. William S. Hart, the noted western star, in "Travelin' On," and Will Rogers and Lila Lee in "One Glorious Day" will be the outstanding attractions for the week-end.

biblical phrases, preaching the word of God in the face of most determined opposition. In this, and in many other respects the picture is truly an epoch of the west for it is faithfully preserving for posterity the west as it was and as it will never be again. The supporting cast includes Ethel Terry, Brinsley Shaw and Mary Jane Irving.

The second feature, "One Glorious Day," featuring Will Rogers and Lila Lee is a most entertaining production. It is a comedy, filled with laughs and mystery and now and then a bit of pathos. The featured players are constantly cast all the support is clever. Don't miss it.

A comedy, "Pure and Simple," and the International News will complete the bill.

THE CROWN THEATRE
Diving 25 or more feet into water at Hampton, Cal., fully dressed in heavy lined business suit, was one of the feats accomplished by Jack Holt. In his first Paramount star picture, "The Call of the North," will be the feature at the Crown Theatre for two days beginning today.

The scene shows a rescue, wherein Holt brings Francis McDonald, a stray asthore, the latter having taken a backward dive from the side of the rocky cliff, a distance of 15 feet.

The water was extremely cold. As soon as the scene was made the actors hastened to the fire kindled for the purpose of drying them out. But the experienced "draman" built his fire on top of the fire where the wind blew from all four quarters at once, seemingly, and the drenched star and his companion in misery were pretty well chilled before they were dried out.

HALLO THEATRE
Crowds are pouring in to see Jackie Coogan's latest work in "My Boy," which is showing at the Hallo Theatre for the entire week. It is the very best picture that Coogan has yet appeared in, even eclipsing "Peck's Bad Boy" and "The Kid." On the same program for today is Jack Richards in "Dangerous Love," also a comedy and the Kinograms. Don't fail to see it.

THIN, FLAT HAIR GROWS LONG, THICK AND ABUNDANT

"Danderine" costs only 25 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but only new hair—growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.—Adv.

Denise Pachada of Valley Falls, a truck driver, said that he and Assuncao had been delivering groceries with a truck on the morning of the riots.

A customer living near the Jenckes plant was not at home so the two looked for him in the crowd assembled in the street there. When the police opened the Pachada was shot in the right arm. Later he found that Assuncao had been killed.

Jose Maria Dies of Pawtucket, who was on picket duty at the Jenckes mill on the morning of the riots, said the police had fired immediately after the arrival on the scene of a mail, "said by the crowd to be the mayor of the city." He was shot through the body and fell.

Then, he alleged, policeman standing three yards away fired three more shots at him, wounding him in the neck. Dies showed the court his body wounds and three shot scars in his neck. He also produced the cap he said he wore at the time, perforated and buried with buckshot. Jose Pachada, of Pawtucket, another picket, said that day said a union leader had told the strikers to retire just before the shooting. He was shot in the little toe of his right foot, he said. Jose Martins, of Pawtucket, at present on bail of $1000 on a rioting charge, said he was clubbed and beaten over the head with rifle butts when he attempted to assist a girl a policeman was treating roughly. He denied that he had struck Mayor Kenyon with his fist during the riot and said he did not know what he was arrested for.

The auditing committee was appointed as follows: A. Stanley, C. O'Keefe and J. Hughes. A communication was received from the Lawrence lodge to the effect that a baseball league was about to be formed among lodges from Lawrence,

YESTERDAY WAS BUSY DAY AT CITY HALL

While the storm roared outside and whipped great sheets of rain against the windows of city hall late yesterday afternoon and last night, one of the busiest days of the present administration was being on within.

Beginning with the meeting of the board of public service at 4 o'clock, it was well into the late hours of the night before City Messenger Owen Monahan locked the doors.

"Nothing to do till tomorrow," he commented, as he left for home.

The public service board was in session for four hours and snatched a sandwich and a cup of coffee just before going into the meeting of the city council at 8 o'clock.

The council, sitting as a committee on appropriations, occupied the regular council chamber. The special committee of the council appointed to confer with local legislators on the proposition to borrow $500,000 outside the city limit, was in the mayor's reception room.

The park commission met in regular session in its rooms at 8 o'clock, while upstairs the school committee conferred and then settled down for the transaction of business.

"For a bad night, it was a busy one, eh."

THOSE RESERVATIONS

Just at present, the republican leaders are much exercised over the alleged perversion of a few republicans and a number of democrats who are being charged with the offence of less majestic in presuming to add reservations to one or more of the treaties evolved by the Washington arms limitation conference.

So caustic are these republican outbursts of indignation, that one unacquainted with the situation might suppose that treaty reservations were never heard of before and that it was something in the nature of a crisis which for a senator to exercise his right in safeguarding the interests of the nation according to his best judgment. Here is Senator Pepper, the new "scholar in politics," Senator Lodge being the senior claimant to that title, coming out with a statement that it is actually discourteous to the foreign nations which we invited to participate in the conference to tack reservations to the treaties mutually agreed upon. "It is," he says, "as if after inviting guests to tea, we reminded them that they must understand they are not to remain for dinner. It shows mistrust of the friendly nations that honored us by sending their diplomats to Washington." Imagining such delicacy in dealing with two nations, England and Japan, that through their shrewd and well trained diplomats outmaneuvered us at every point in the Washington conference and that are still plotting to countercheck our progress as a world power.

Senator Walsh remarked that reservations necessary to prevent misinterpretation and to safeguard the nation are no more indicative of mistrust than is the treaty itself, whereupon the Courier-Citizen hastens to brand the statement as proof that the senator is not up to the Massachusetts standard. Yet it is clear, as the senator alleges, that if the nations involved had mutually explicit faith in one another no treaties would be necessary to bind them against militaristic policies that would threaten our safety and the peace of the world.

But it is remarkable that Senator Lodge, who now abhors reservations in the four power treaty, was the champion reservationist in opposition to the League of Nations, of which the present treaty may prove to be but a miniature copy.

Any treaty guaranteeing peace on the Pacific may require the United States to send her soldiers to defend the islands of Japan; and if reservations are necessary to make clear the fact that we will never do anything of the kind, then let the reservations be adopted. The safety of the nation requires it.

Although we comply with all our existing treaties, if the republican party should ratify any treaty placing upon us the liability to defend Japan, the democrats would abrogate it as soon as they attained the power. They will never vote to send our military forces to the old world to defend the territory of an ungrateful power. That policy, we take it, is not so much a proof of mediocrity as the opposite is of un-American tradition to foreign powers.

Therefore the reservations.

PRACTICAL RESULTS LACKING

With the republican party one year in control of the government, its record is now before the country and is certainly disappointing despite all claims to the contrary by its leading representatives. Some steps of a constructive character have been taken but they fall far short of what was expected and of what practical statesmanship would have accomplished.

The ability of individual members of the administrative family may be adequate, but team play is necessary to secure the greatest results and this was conspicuously lacking.

Has the past twelve months been a record-breaker in accomplishment at Washington? Stern critics and students of administrative affairs cannot be deluded by fine speeches in the halls where the senatorial robes are paraded. Of what avail is a volume presided with facile pen, lavish in the use of adjectives and phraseology, and a cabinet of admittedly strong cabinet if they cannot enact constructive legislation?

The strife with the "labor" and other insurgents has been unceasing and the end is not in sight. The tariff tangle is tangled again, with no really definite program ahead for consideration. The road is not at all clear for the grand republican forward movement so long predicted but not yet started.

How can American business men, prompt to act when the pathway is cleared for them, be expected to carry out their campaigns for prosperity with a congress reluctant to aid and a nation filled with gloomy forebodings and discontent with the administration that is in power? Some blame rests with the rank and file republicans, but the fact remains that President Harding in his first year as chief executive of the republic, has been tried and found wanting in many of the administrative qualities necessary to successful leadership.

There is a notable lack of practical results in the record of the republican party in its year of administration. The press of the country with one accord is calling upon the president and his intimate official family to exhibit a little more leadership, a sterner determination to put into practice the party sponsorship in government that appears to be needed this year to revive the nation's business and clear the tracks ahead.

A Thought For Today

Go, face the fire at sea, or the cholera in your friend's house, or the burglar in your own, or what danger lies in the way of duty, knowing you are guarded by the cherubim of destiny.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

A Going Concern

Smith brought a business through an agent as a going concern. After six months he failed, but took his trouble very lightly. Meeting the agent some time later he said: "Do you remember selling me a business as a going concern?" "Yes, of course, I do," replied the agent. "Well," said Smith, "it's gone."

A Word in a Day

Today's word is Chevalier. It's pronounced "shay-a-lee" with accent on the last syllable. It means—a nobleman, a chivalrous man, a cavalier, a gallant, a "perfect gentleman." It comes from—French "chevalier," a knight. It's used like this—"To make a good impression on women, you should have the manners of a chevalier."

Andalusian Breakers

Joseph Hug, the novelist, said at a luncheon in Philadelphia: "I'd like to go to Havana again this winter. There's very good bathing there, you know, all the year round. I met the other day a young man who had just got back from Havana. 'Did you sport with the breakers?' I said to him. 'I should think so,' said he. 'A couple of beautiful Spanish dancing girls from Malaga. They broke me in about three days.'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Same Old Language

It is recorded that a certain literary man of high reputation had occasioned remarks to a waiter in the restaurant where he sometimes lunched: "Waiter, this beefsteak is not at all tender. I can hardly cut it." The waiter looked at him with a sorrowful expression and sighed deeply. "Perhaps you will tell me," said the literary man, "why you sigh in that fashion?" "Ah, sir," said the waiter, "I took you for a man who always wrote and said original things, and here you come and say the same things that all the rest of the customers do."—Rehebeoth Sunday Herald.

Lunching Daintily

A delicate looking girl went into an Atlantic restaurant recently and languidly scanned the bill of fare. "She won't find anything she can eat on that thing," thought an Atlantic man, who gazed in silent admiration at her fragile beauty, and thought how he would love to devote his life to providing her with the broiled wings of a canary, etc. His reflections were disturbed by hearing the exquisite little thing give the following order: Spare ribs, sweetbreads, one of each of cold broiled, one of mashed potatoes, a piece of mince pie, a glass of milk and a cup of coffee."—Atlantic Globe.

Manuscript Fuel

Joe Wagon called round upon his friend Harbup and found him in a cold attic at work on a mysterious operation. The floor was littered with books and Harbup was bent over a big washbasin containing a soggy mass of torn book leaves and water. "Great Scott," cried Wagon, "What ever are you doing, Harbup?" "I've given up trying to be an author," explained Harbup, "and I've discovered a great substitute for coal." "Congratulations!" "You said paper in water," continued Harbup, "then form it into hard bricks the size of a hockey ball. Let them dry, and they burn splendidly. Think of it, old man, all my old returned manuscripts will be enough to keep my room heated through the whole winter!"

As Winter Passes

Old Winter's reign is almost o'er. For he is falling fast. And every minute finds him now More waste than the last; His emerald robes are soiled and frayed, His splendid jewels dim. And soon the earth with violets And grass will cover him. All night above the thawing fields Has lain a thick white mist. The early sunlight tints with rose And gold and amethyst. Before the south wind's magic breath The vapors heavenward roll. And vanish in the distant blue. Lo! Winter's passing soul. —By MINNA IRVING, in New York Herald.

LOTUS EATING

with Berton Braley
MIAMI

In Miami, in Miami, when the north is cold and clammy

In the city of Miami it is June;

And the sunny ocean beaches are bespangled thick with peaches

In the morning and the lazy afternoon.

They are brown—these lovely women, and their suits are made to swim in;

Yet they show sophistication at the art of mild flirtation

And they shake a snaky slipper in the dance.

In Miami, in Miami, life is soft as softest chamonia

(Which is used, of course, to furnish me a rhyme)

And the days slip by in measure to a gay gavotte of pleasure

In this honey-sweet and sunny-tempered clime;

Yet for all its lazy glamor it's a city full of clamor,

Full of hustle and of bustle and of zest,

Where the real-estate hound yowls as they eagerly surround you

And the oil-men never give you any rest.

Oh, the grapefruit hang in bunches for your breakfast and your lunches

And the stately palms are rustling in the breeze

And the sea-plumes climb the skyways and the atmospheric byways

Over amethyst and jade and sapphirine seas.

Life has neither care nor canker where the white yachts ride at anchor

And the pelicans are skinning to and fro;

Are you seeking rest from worry and from mad frenetic hurry?

Then Miami is the place for you to go.

In Miami motor traffic would disturb a soul seraphic;

There is neither rule nor reason when you drive.

In Miami Bryan's dwelling in beatitude exulting

And his senate boom is very much alive.

It's a warm and friendly city and I gladly pen this ditty

Which will advertise Miami, wholly free,

As the town of joy in plenty and of dolce far niente,

As a magic happy city by the sea.

Another Fatal Shooting in Belfast

BELFAST, March 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Another fatal shooting occurred this morning in the continuation of the disorders which have been in progress several days in Belfast and which resulted in four deaths yesterday. A sniper on Antrim street shot and mortally injured one man, William Johnston and slightly wounded another man.

Former Official Must Answer Charges

PARIS, March 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Philippe Berthelot, formerly secretary-general of the ministry of foreign affairs, who resigned on Dec. 26 last, has been summoned to appear before a disciplinary board to answer charges relating to the conduct of his office. According to today's newspapers M. Berthelot must explain a telegram which he is accused of having sent on behalf of the French government to the French high commissioner in New York, Maurice Casenave, exhorting him to use his full influence with American banks in order that checks of the Banque Industrielle de Chine might be met.

Flashboards Are Torn Away

Continued

Ice, river refuse and white foam.

Long, thick reeds several feet tall.

Used to hold the flashboards, were bent forward like soft candy sticks. All of the boards on the Lowell side of the river were carried away, only a portion of the flashboard line remaining today on the opposite side.

The flashboards borne away on the river current below the dam were 16 feet long and about one foot wide.

They were bolted to the iron supports,

but the structure was not strong enough to hold back the sudden flood of ice floes that followed the sudden cracking and then the prompt breaking of the great ice field above the dam and reaching to a point opposite the ice houses.

A large ice field remains on the opposite side of the river running down to the dam edge, and showed no signs of breaking today.

The water over the dam was higher yesterday than it was today. While the flashboards were in position, the measurement at 9 o'clock yesterday morning was 4½ feet above the cap of the dam. This morning, with the flashboards gone, the water was six inches lower, but coming down fast, and filling up all the rocky area in the river bed that is a familiar sight in the other three seasons of the year.

Only yesterday morning, persons walked across the river bed on the rocks below the Moody street bridge.

There was no evidence then of any high water on the way.

Heavy Rainfall

The rainfall last evening, the heaviest so far this year in Lowell and vicinity, came between 5 and 10 o'clock, and crippled street railway service on several lines. Ponds of water quickly formed in many sections of the city on mainly travel highways, and floods of snow and water flowed across sidewalks, choking gutters and "carries" and filling many cellars.

The rain came at the close of a threatening day. An unusual feature of the storm was its area of rather narrow width. Villages beyond the 12-mile limit had but little rain, and the downpour that struck Lowell apparently followed the river, as weather experts say when frequently heavy storms hit the river country areas and rarely touch districts far away.

The street railway company was perhaps the hardest hit of any public service corporation by last night's inola-tion plumburst and water damage.

Tracks in many sections of the city were covered several inches deep with water, mud and sand, and pieces of debris caught up by the miniature fresh-ets were swept across tracks and roadways, blocking traffic. In many parts of the city temporarily.

A car was derailed on First street near the car barn, and another car left the track a little later on Gorman street. For sometime cars were unable to run by Edison cemetery owing to the deep water that gathered there and failed to run off rapidly.

Many of the city's sewers appear to be choked with ice and snow, and other matter swept into the sewerage system also prevents the rapid moving away of surface water.

Trouble was also reported to the railway company from Moody street, near

Seventh avenue, and in Vaffum avenue not far from the Lowell General hospital.

BUSINESS DEPRESSION REACHES BOTTOM

Lecturing before the members of the Men's club of Eliot Union church last evening, Professor Ralph B. Wilson of the Babson Statistical Institution declared that business depression had reached the bottom and while the "upward swing" was not yet underway, it was surely coming. Mr. Wilson's topic was "Business Conditions." He based his talk on an application to business of Newton's law of action and reaction, and on statistical data regarding business of every kind.

The speaker declared that for every period of depression there must be a consequent period of prosperity. Business, he said, moves in well defined cycles through a number of phases. Industrial employment changes were described with charts. The professor, in closing, said:

"When inefficiency is replaced with efficiency, waste with thrift, immorality with morality, unrighteousness and selfishness with service, then will conditions improve, and when 51 per cent. of the people become imbued with the right spirit we will start on our next period of prosperity."

After the address, numerous questions were answered by the speaker. An excellent supper preceded the meeting under the direction of a committee of men led by A. L. Thompson. Members of the Eliot Union church and the Church Men's club were guests.

LICENSE BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Little of importance came before the license commission at its regular meeting last night. It was expected that Francis A. Connor, superintendent of public buildings, would be on hand to explain matters concerning new quarters for the commission, but he telephoned that he was too busy at city hall to appear. The matter will come up at the next meeting.

SAFE STOPPING

Depends on Human Element to Sense Emergency

What is the shortest distance required to stop your car going at a certain speed in an emergency? The answer to this, in the opinion of E. W. Weaver, Cleveland engineer, depends on two things:

First—Condition of brakes and the road surface.

Second—Time required for the driver to sense an emergency before applying the brakes.

Of these conditions the second is most important, says Weaver. "Tests have set certain minimum distances for stopping, based on knowledge of brakes and road surface, in relation to the various speeds of the motor car. For instance, 35 feet has been fixed as the minimum distance required to stop a car with good brakes, going 30 miles an hour on a dry, level road. With poor brakes on a slippery road the distance is 250 feet.

But the human element must also be considered, says Weaver. He figures it takes one-half a second for an experienced driver to sense an emergency before he begins to apply the brakes. In this one-half second of time, at a speed of 30 miles an hour, the car will have gone 22 feet.

Therefore, in stopping an automobile from a speed of 30 miles an hour, for example, the total distance required would be 105 feet, with good brakes and a dry, level road; 250 feet, with poor brakes and a slippery road. Other distances can be judged, with the aid of the chart Weaver has prepared, dependent on the car's speed and the driver's own alertness in sensing the emergency.

DEVELOPS THIN OIL.
A meter is being marketed which is intended to keep the driver informed on the condition of the oil in his crankcase. A continuous stream of oil flows across a dial on which is a temperature reading. It is a warning that the oil is too thin and needs changing.

EASY TO BLOW HORN.
No need of removing your hand from the steering wheel—if you own a Ford, and have the lever shown here attached. It is the invention of Charles G. Walters of Detroit. The button is placed on the side of the steering post and the lever reaches from it toward the steering wheel. All that is needed is to pull the lever.

OUT FIREMEN'S PAY.
At a recent meeting of the board of selectmen for the town of Billerica it was voted to reduce the pay of the fire chief from $35.10 a week to $35.69, while the other two permanent employees of the department have had their pay slashed from $35 to $31.50 and $30 to $26.50.

LAND FOR HOUSE LOTS.
A tract of land, about 32,000 square feet, owned by Mrs. Alice J. Saunders and located on Whitman street and Belmont avenue, has been sold to a local party, who will develop it into house lots. The land is assessed for about $7000. The name of the purchaser is being withheld.

ENGLISH NO-GLARE LAMP

An automobile headlamp marketed in England is made so that no blinding effect is produced. It is tapered tube, with two lenses in front and a horizontal diaphragm dividing its length. This affords light only below the lamp level.

More than 30,000 motor cars were exported last year. Sudden and excessive application of brakes ruins tires. Great Britain has 600 motor trucking companies. Let the engine warm up to overcome missing and to run smoothly. Drain the gasoline tank of sediment regularly. Ohio has more than 750,000 motor vehicles. Keep tires mended to get best results. Save the brakes by coasting to a stop as much as possible. Use the motor as a brake going down hill. Denver is the motor gateway to 12

Stomach Upset, Gas, Gas, Gas —"Diapepsin"

"Papa's Diapepsin" ends indigestion, heartburn in five minutes. Sour, gas, upset stomach, acidity, dyspepsia; when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lumps; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the quick magic of Papa's Diapepsin. If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated—try Papa's Diapepsin. It's so needless to have a bad stomach! Make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—eat without fear. It's because Papa's Diapepsin "really does" regulate weak, out-of-order stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually. Get a large sixty-cent can of Papa's Diapepsin from any drug store. It is the most efficient antacid known. It is scientific, harmless, and belongs in every home.—Adv.

national parks and 22 national monuments. Value of motor vehicles and parts, including engines and tires, exported last year was $102,948,610. United States manufacturers exported automobiles last year to 114 countries. Ordnance manufacturers of New Haven, Conn., are turning to automobile manufacturers. Haste in replacing punctured or blown-out tubes may cause further accidents. In 1921 there were 415 gasoline refineries as compared with 373 the year before. At the present rate of consumption there would be enough fuel to last the United States for 100 years. Tests of motor cars running on alcohol and benzol will be made April 1 in France. Do not pass another car going your way while turning corners or crossing an intersection. Moving the steering wheel while the car is standing puts an undue strain on the steering mechanism. If the engine backfires continuously check up the wiring and timing of the ignition system. Put a tablespoonful of kerosene into each cylinder once a week to keep the engine free of carbon. Air-cooled engines require heavier oil than a water-cooled motor because of higher operating temperature. Energy required to move an automobile experts say, equals the power needed to lift the great Japanese dreadnaught Mutsu three feet.

BOXING

Dan Coughlin, the first local heavy-weight developed in years, is training diligently for his bout here on Thursday night with Pat Nance, of Haverhill. It will mark Coughlin's first appearance in the ring and naturally he is desirous of being at his best when he hops between the ropes. It is not what Dan has already accomplished, yet he has met with unusual success during his brief connection with the game, but what he may do in the coming fight is the question. A heavy-weight boxer always creates interest for the possibilities before him are greater than those afforded to men in any other class.

There is much discussion relative to the possible outcome of the Avila-Woods match, the final ten round event on the program for tomorrow night. Supporters of both can see nothing but a clean cut victory. Those who like Woods point to his sensational win over Sallor Darden here as a strong argument in his favor to triumph over the less experienced Avila. The Lowell boys' followers, however, advance the claim that once Woods comes in contact with one of Johnny's terrible blows, he will lose much of his "pomp" and aggressiveness.

Young Martin Flaherty will make his local low in one of the preliminaries. He is down to meet Young O'Brien, Benny Cavanaugh and Jimmy McManis, recent graduates from the amateur ranks, are to trade wallop in the other six rounds.

Benny Valger, well known in Lowell, who is now stopping in Boston, has been matched to meet Jimmy Frizzelli, in Lynn on next Monday night. It will mark Valger's first bout in this vicinity since he won over Freddy Jacks in Lowell about a year ago.

SPRING TRAINING GOSSIP BY BILLY EVANS

The college-amateur and semi-pro players are going to get a big chance in the training camps this year.

The failure to get the minors to agree to a universal draft plan is the cause, having their field curtailed, the major league managers have invaded the ranks of the collegians, amateurs and semi-pros.

The remarkable success achieved by Frankie Felsch of Kalamazoo college as a member of the national team has caused the major league managers to give considerable attention to the collegians. In the spring every important college has its full quota of scouts.

The Cleveland club has found the college a worthwhile institution for developing talent. University of Alabama has sent some worthy "under to Manager Speaker. Joe Sewell, now rated a star position, was a member of the national team. Stephenson and Catcher Luke Sewell are also Alabama alumni.

In the preliminary work this spring much interest will center around Glen Killinger with the New York Yankees and Johnny Mohardt of Notre Dame, who goes with Detroit.

It is a rather interesting fact that Killinger and Mohardt were two of the most talked about football players in the country last fall. Killinger was given a place on Walter Camp's All-America eleven, Mohardt was so honored by many other football circles.

Killinger is an infielder. At Penn State he played at short, center position on the infield. Hugo Bezdek, who coached Penn State in baseball as well as football, says Killinger is ready for the big show.

Bezdek says Killinger is best at third base. In all probability he will be worked out in that position by the Yankees. It is a certainty that Frank Baker will play only a few more years. If Killinger has the goods he has a real chance with the Yankees.

Johnny Mohardt is a pitcher. Mohardt is evidently a very bright young man. He has brains as well as brawn. If he can keep them in the field, he will have an additional advantage.

In college football and baseball, Mohardt is regarded as the best. He was one of the best backfield men in the country. He had few equals at hurling the football. In baseball he was rated one of the best college pitchers in the country. He also won his letter in track.

Aside from the great success he had in athletic circles, Mohardt was also a brilliant student. He has completed one of the most difficult courses at Notre Dame with an average better than 90 for his four years' work. Few students have graduated from Notre Dame with a better average.

Mohardt, although weighing near 165, has a powerful physique. In three years of football with the exception of a broken nose, he has never been seriously hurt. Manager Cobb of Detroit is hopeful he will enable his college friends on the American league diamonds.

BARS HOLIDAY BOUTS IN MICHIGAN

LANSING, Mich., March 8.—Governor Grosbeck yesterday denied a request from residents of Pontiac Harbor, that a proposed boxing match there next July be approved. The governor's action is in line with his previous announcement, that there will be no more holiday fights in Michigan.

Tentative plans for a meeting at Pontiac Harbor next July 4, of Benny Leonard and Charley White of Flukey Mitchell, were made known some time ago, but the governor promptly announced the ban against holding any championship bouts principally had not been removed.

who recently returned from Australia is seeking a bout with lightweight champion Henry Leonard.

Young Tommy Murphy of this city is in search of bouts with any 125-130 pound boys. He says he will tackle any of them at or near his weight. He is training daily and says he's in the pink of condition.

Danny Edwards of Los Angeles is doing an awful job on New England title holders. He came east a short time ago and was picked as a set up for champion, N. E. Featherweight champion.

He gave Chick one of the worst beatings of his career. Then the other night in Boston he went into the ring against Abe Friedman, N. E. bantam champion and he gave Abe the same kind of a beating he handed out to Suggs.

Paul Doyle continues to enjoy much success in the welterweight class. He is now said to be anxious for another match with Nate Siegel, who recently conquered his old foe, Eddie Shevlin.

Bobby Joseph met with a severe upset at New Bedford when he was stopped by K. O. Perkins in two rounds. Comment on the fight says Bobby was away off form.

Hyman Gold of San Francisco knocked out Johnny Donnelly at Philadelphia last night in the fourth round of a scheduled eight-round fight. Gold had a big advantage in every round, and he was able to land his punches. He defeated Whitley Fitzgerald, Philadelphia, in an eight-round bout. Carl Tremaine, Cleveland, outboxed Joe O'Donnell, Gloucester, N. J., in eight rounds.

Joe Rivet came into The Sun office today to leave a challenge to meet Joe Joseph on a winner take all basis. He also declared that he is still ready to meet Babe Christo, providing a matchmaker will offer a sufficient inducement. Rivet also stated that George Barker, with whom he is training every day in still seeking that much discussed match with Lefty Williams.

EUROPEAN CHAMPION IS AFTER BRITTON

By BOB NORMAN
NEW YORK, March 8.—From across the water comes another European battle champion seeking new fields to conquer.

Pete Robin is the latest arrival. He lays claim to the welterweight title of Europe. He is a Belgian. His home is at Antwerp. He is 23 years old, weighs 116 pounds when not in training and is only 5 feet 6 inches tall.

His European titleholder in unquestionably the shortest welterweight in the world.

However, what he lacks in height he makes up in brawn. He is on the type of Bob Armstrong, who in the old days was known as the "beastman" of the middleweight division.

Like George Carpentier, Robin was an aviator in the late twenties, and he is a native of Belgium. He was the color of his native land, Belgium.

Robin came to this country uninvited. George Carpentier was wildly about, and he was in the city.

BASKETBALL

After two fine games on successive nights there will now be a full in basketball activities until Friday night when the second game of the Y.M.C.A. C.Y.M.L. series will be played.

The members of both teams, however, have been busy all week practicing for the resumption of hostilities and indications point to another bitterly contested struggle when the second clash gets underway.

That many fans prospects are being developed here was evident the other night in the amateur game. Kelley of St. Anne's team and Printeville of St. Patrick's are players who look like coming stars. Buckner and Hester, because of their greater weight, are also a pair who will bear watching. Ashe, though light, is as fast as lightning and he, too, ought to eventually graduate.

Clark, Collins, Nowals, O'Sullivan, Mitchell and in fact all the young players appearing in this unique series show the class to go higher in the game.

It will take a wonderful team to defeat that club Lew has assembled, said Mr. King, manager of the Y.M.C.A. basketball outfit which met defense here last night. King, however, declared that he would like a crack at Lew's club with his full regular lineup. He said three of his regulars were absent last night because of illness and injury.

Mr. King's tribute to the Lew outfit was only one of many heard during and after the game. Seldom has such a classy five been seen in this vicinity. The Hyams, Arthur and Richard are about as skillful a pair as one would care to see. Mulvanity, Lew and Winn are also very capable performers.

Jimmy Keenan, of the Y.M.C.A. got a chance to play with Lew's team in the final period and he certainly made good, two nice baskets being his contribution.

Danny O'Connor, captain of the O.M.U. announced today that his team would like to meet the winner of the St. Anne-St. Patrick's amateur championship series.

In the first game of the series the Greens came from behind and won over the Oranges at the Sacred Heart gym in the last game last night and with the largest crowd of the season looking on. The second game will be played Saturday night. Finnegan was the star of the victors, scoring six baskets and Sam Sheehan starred for the losers.

It was also reported that several pheasants, wounded or showing signs of sickness during the winter, had come into Mr. Burns' reservation in South Lowell, and had been well looked after with the assistance of the vice-president, Dr. F. R. Brady. On one occasion Dr. Brady made a record run to the reservation to set a broken leg for one of the winged visitors.

President Livingston appointed the following committee to audit the accounts of the secretary and treasurer: Arnold A. Dym, Bernard McAdie and Louis Alexander.

RED SOX LIST OF HOLDOUTS GROWS

Foster and Ruehl at Odds With Management Over New Contracts

Interesting News From the Various Big League Training Camps

BOSTON, March 8.—Eddie Foster and "Muddy" Ruehl were added to the list of Red Sox holdouts today. Despatches from Hot Springs, Ark., the Red Sox training ground, said that Foster had refused to sign the contract offered him at last year's salary and that Ruehl also was in disagreement with the management and manager.

Joe Harris, returning to major league play after several years' suspension since he played with the Cleveland club, was described as fast on his feet again, and in good shape to play for Jack Quinn and Rip Collins, two of the pitchers obtained by the Red Sox in trade with New York during the winter, were in uniform for the first time this spring.

In the absence of Foster, Young Clark Pittenger played around third base with an eye to clinching that position for the season. The first two of the keynotes of all reports from the Braves' training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., notwithstanding, excessive heat in the ground went through two all weeklong and Manager Mitchell announced they would be on the double shift plan while in camp. The Braves were given more time for their social campaign, being allowed until midnight to get to bed.

BOARD HEARS BRIDGE WRANGLE

Central Bridge Controversy
Gone Over at Public Service Board Meeting

Consulting Engineer Says Structure Safe for Any Loads That May Cross It

A more or less exhaustive resume of the operations under the contract for the reconstruction of Central bridge, with lengthy, and at times contradictory, arguments by attorneys for the Boston Engineering Service and Construction Co. and Major L. B. Moore, consulting engineer for the city, featured the meeting of the board of public service late yesterday.

The meeting was called to order at 4 o'clock and did not adjourn until 8 o'clock.

The board also gave a hearing to representatives of the Improvement association of precinct 3, of ward 3, on petitions of that body that immediate street improvements be made in the Ayer City district, particularly in Manchester street.

During the discussion of the Central bridge matter, Major Moore emphatically stated that the bridge is absolutely safe and capable of carrying any loads that might cross it.

There was considerable controversy on a question of proper setting of concrete on the roadway of the bridge and some damage already sustained due to opening a portion of the bridge to vehicular traffic.

The matter of work on the bridge under the head of extras was argued long and in great detail and when it was apparent that the contractors and the engineering department are at odds regarding many points, Chairman Murphy suggested that both sides get together with the city solicitor and endeavor to iron out the controversy.

The first business taken up was consideration of the loan order to borrow $60,000 for the purpose of exterior improvements at the Memorial Auditorium.

Chairman Dennis J. Murphy desired to hold up approval of the loan for the time being, at least, as there seemed to be some legal questions surrounding it that should be straightened out.

There seemed to be the feeling that perhaps the loan should be presented

We Do Not Recommend Allen's Lung Healer As a Cure for Consumption

But we do claim and have proven times without number that it will prevent the disease in many cases by its remarkable healing and germicidal properties. Its action on the lungs and bronchial tubes fortifies them against attack if used in season. An obstinate lung cough weakens the lungs and opens wide the door for tubercular germs to enter and find lodgment. Allen's Lung Healer cures these obstinate lung coughs, thereby preventing consumption. If your lungs are susceptible to colds, you should take the Lung Healer on the first symptoms of a cold, thereby preventing further trouble.

In three or more separate orders, one to cover sidewalks, one to care for street improvements, and a third to build a retaining wall.

The order was placed on the table for the time being.

Chairman Murphy read a letter from the city solicitor, addressed to former Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, stating that Commissioner Dana had directed that an examination be held for the position of foreman of streets or sewers.

Inasmuch as the board of public service has made no request for such an examination, Chairman Murphy was instructed to communicate with the city solicitor regarding it.

Ten residents of precinct 3, of ward 3, with Councilor Arthur B. Chadwick, all members of the Improvement association of that section, appeared before the board in the interest of necessary street improvements, particularly in Manchester street.

President Ready of the association cited a number of accidents that have occurred in and near the street and said that a great deal of heavy traffic goes through there daily.

Councilor Chadwick briefly outlined the purpose of the hearing and Charles A. Donahue, retained an attorney for the association, also spoke.

It was said by one of the speakers that money has twice been provided for the reconstruction of Manchester street, but that nothing has been done there by the city for more than 30 years.

To smooth-pave the street, Chairman Murphy said it would cost approximately $35,000.

A representative of the Elgin Corp. appeared before the board relative to a gutter attachment to street-sweeping machines. The board will purchase one of the attachments, the purchase price being $750. A vote authorizing a requisition for its purchase was passed.

The attachment will arrive in the city early next week during the time when the sweepers are being thoroughly overhauled for the spring work.

Chairman Murphy read a letter from the Lowell chamber of commerce offering a survey in suggestion form of bad spots in local roadways. Members of the chamber who drive automobiles will note all spots that need repair and submit them in recommendation form to the public service board.

The board voted to place the communication on file and will gladly receive any such suggestions.

During a discussion of steam rollers owned by the city, City Engineer Kearney said that an up-to-date spall-digger is needed for digging up heavy asphalt.

A survey of local steam roller equipment will be made and a report filed with the board in the very near future.

On request of the board, representatives of the Boston Engineering Service and Construction Co., and Major Moore, consulting engineer for the city, came before the board relative to the present status of the Central bridge.

Chairman Murphy read a letter from the construction company, which stated that additional space on the bridge had been opened to traffic and as a result, considerable damage has been caused to the concrete for a width of about eight feet, because of the fact that the concrete had not set properly before being thrown open for travel. The letter stated further that the contractors would not be liable for the damage caused.

John M. O'Donoghue, counsel for the Engineering Service and Construction Co., outlined the situation on the bridge as it is at present.

Major Moore said that there is no damage to the concrete on the bridge that cannot be readily corrected. He said that he did not believe that the concrete in question had been thrown open to traffic at too early a time and it was his belief that ice and snow and rain had caused whatever damage exists, plus a heavy concentration of traffic.

Major Moore said that there has been a great deal of unnecessary delay in the reconstruction of the bridge and city to open the bridge at the earliest possible moment.

City Solicitor Tierney asked Major Moore how much it would cost to repair the concrete damage and the latter said about $1000.

The question of payment of bills under the head of extras on the bridge was discussed at length. It was practically agreed that certain time by a certain number of men was consumed on extra work, but against the construction company's charge of $150 per hour per man, Major Moore said it should not be more than 75 cents per hour.

It was finally decided that the parties interested shall get together with the city solicitor and attempt to find a common meeting ground from which a new start may be made toward a decision regarding the payment of money coming under the head of extras.

An opinion of the city solicitor relative to the duties of the board in regard to pole locations, was read, accepted and placed on file.

The board considered the loan schedules for 1922 and the proposed work on sewers, macadam, block paving, bridges and sidewalks for the year, submitted as recommendations by Engineer Stephen Kearney.

Each member of the board will study the report and it will be taken up at a future meeting.

A petition from the Knights of Columbus to extend the white way system in Dutton street, was received and placed on file.

A petition for digging up Woburn street for a sewer construction, was approved.

A permit was issued to Morris Barlosky to close a portion of the sidewalk in Westford street near Loring street, for building purposes, with the understanding that he provide a temporary walk for pedestrians.

A petition was received from Catherine and Hugh Maguire for a curbstone in front of 152 and 151 Methuen street.

The petition from the Mt. Pleasant Realty Co. that Baldwin street be laid out and accepted from the angle in said street to Westford street, was filed.

Sam Dean petitioned that the sewer be extended in Upham street.

Before adjournment the board approved monthly bills.

EMERGENCY PAYROLL

Another emergency payroll for street work, under the appropriation of $20,000 to aid unemployment and containing the names of 158 men who worked March 2, 3 and 4, will be paid by the city on Friday. At the prevailing rate of $5.20 per day per man, the payroll totals $2444.

The street maintenance payroll for last week amounts to $1525.55, against $552.25 for the week previous. Last week was well within the $6000 maximum prescribed by the public service board.

The sewer maintenance payroll amounts to $1552.47, or an increase of approximately $359 over the previous week. The cash department payroll also is greater by about $300, the total for last week, payable Friday, being $1540.13.

To Stand Pat on Bonus Plan

will encounter only comparative feeble opposition in the house unless there is an unexpected reaction among the great majority of members who have been insistent that some sort of bonus legislation be enacted at this session.

Just what will happen to the bill in the senate appears at this time to be more or less problematical. There the measure will be open to amendment and also to unlimited debate and it is regarded as more than probable that it will be subjected to change in some important particulars. Since President Harding advised the house committee to pay the bonus with a sales tax or postpone the legislation, it is expected that sales tax proponents in the senate will renew their fight for that kind of a levy.

Among house members generally there was more discussion today as to how the president viewed the bill than there was about its probable fate after it left the house. Framers of the measure appeared to be in fairly good accord that it would not meet with the executive's disapproval because it removed what they said was the fundamental objection to the cash bonus plan—an immediate drain on the federal treasury.

Some opponents of the measure in the house predicted that the bill would be unsatisfactory to both the country and the service men. They contended that it would not enable the men to get as much cash in three years as they would have received under the original cash plan and that the proposed advances by the banks it made would initiate credits to the extent of half a billion or more dollars over the period of the bank loans, thus increasing living costs.

Proponents of the bank loan plan argued that through this provision the men could obtain immediately a far larger sum than they would have received under the cash installment payments plan originally proposed and this without the imposition of any additional taxes on the country. They contended also that when the treasury would have to begin paying out money it could reasonably be assumed that there would be funds to meet the payments through reduced government expenses and receipts from the re-funded foreign loans.

The time that calling up of the bill in the house will not be definitely fixed until Chairman Fordney returns to Washington from a trip to the middle west.

Proponents of the bank loan plan argued that through this provision the men could obtain immediately a far larger sum than they would have received under the cash installment payments plan originally proposed and this without the imposition of any additional taxes on the country. They contended also that when the treasury would have to begin paying out money it could reasonably be assumed that there would be funds to meet the payments through reduced government expenses and receipts from the re-funded foreign loans.

The time that calling up of the bill in the house will not be definitely fixed until Chairman Fordney returns to Washington from a trip to the middle west.

Among house members generally there was more discussion today as to how the president viewed the bill than there was about its probable fate after it left the house. Framers of the measure appeared to be in fairly good accord that it would not meet with the executive's disapproval because it removed what they said was the fundamental objection to the cash bonus plan—an immediate drain on the federal treasury.

Teeth People Show

and teeth they don't—the difference lies in a new way to combat film

A new method of cleaning has brought prettier teeth to millions. Also cleaner, safer teeth.

You see the results wherever you look. Teeth now glisten which before were dim. They show in smiles now where folks once concealed them.

This is to tell you the reason, then to urge that you make a free test.

They remove the film

These millions have gained whiter teeth by simply combating film in this new way.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not effectively combat it. The tooth brush, therefore, has left much of it intact.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Film is the basis of tartar. That is why teeth become cloudy and discolored. And some teeth—like smokers' teeth—become badly stained.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film. Those troubles have been constantly increasing for lack of a proper film combant.

Now you can fight it

Dental science, after long research, has found two ways to fight film. Many careful tests have proved their efficiency. Authorities now advise them, and leading dentists half the world over are urging their adoption.

A scientific tooth paste has been perfected to comply with modern requirements. These two film combatants are embodied in it. So one may now attack that film twice a day at home.

The name of that tooth paste is Pepsodent.

Other new effects

The saliva contains two great tooth-protecting agents. One is a starch digestant. That is to digest starch deposits on teeth before they ferment and form acids. The other is alkali, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Certain food elements will multiply those tooth-protecting factors. But modern diet often fails to supply those elements regularly. Authority, therefore, desires the tooth paste to apply that stimulation twice a day.

Pepsodent does that. It multiplies both the starch digestant, and the alkalis in the saliva. Every application gives these natural tooth-protecting agents many-fold effects.

Means a new dental era

Old-time tooth pastes, based on soap and chalk, depress these factors in saliva. They reduce this tooth-protecting power on which so much depends. And they do not end the film.

One week will bring delightful changes

Pepsodent will quickly prove itself. The changes which you see and feel will very soon convince you.

Present the coupon this week for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch how every use leaves the mouth in fresh, alkaline condition.

One week will show you what this method means to you and yours. Go start the test today.

Lowell Rotarians Hear New District Attorney For Suffolk County

"If I never do anything more than stamp out the terrible drug curse that is today stretching its talons over the city of Boston and reaching out into the state in all directions, I shall be satisfied that I have accomplished something that has never been done before in the history of Middlesex county," declared Thomas C. O'Brien, the newly appointed district attorney of Suffolk county, who was principal guest and speaker before the members of the Rotary club yesterday afternoon. Mr. O'Brien received a typical Rotarian greeting after he was introduced by Benjamin S. Pouzner.

It was 100 per cent attendance day for the clubmen, as expected, extra seats being provided for guests. The new district attorney came early, was shown about the club rooms and introduced to new and old friends by President Robert M. Thomson and his assistants, and finally escorted to a middle seat at the head table, where the turkey was piled up with other delectable offerings for the noon-day feast.

The Boston Rotary club's bowling tournament date was announced, and plans completed for Lowell's journey down to the Hub.

Officers Nominated

Nominations for officers for the coming year were read by President Thomson. The election is coming a little later. The new list:

For president, H. H. Parker; vice president, E. M. Davis; secretary, P. L. Panchert; treasurer, C. H. Hobson; directors, W. A. Mitchell, Joseph A. Molloy, Benjamin S. Pouzner and Royal P. White.

The nominating committee for the new year is headed by Chairman Frank Kenney.

The great contest among attendance-chasers in Lowell and Lawrence was announced as won by the latter city, and Lowell Rotarians will have to buy the dinners.

Reports from Major Walter J. Fox regarding the condition of a Lowell boy who has been suffering from pneumonia and whose life was at one time despaired of, were very favorable. President Thomson was informed that the medical attention and private nurse services provided by Rotarian funds in good measure, have helped materially in bringing the boy back to the health road.

Mr. Pouzner told of going to school with Tom O'Brien, an attending Harvard university at one time when O'Brien, having "too much pep," had to join the class of 1908 in the Hub. The Lowell man said he had "known O'Brien many, many years," and was glad to welcome him to Lowell under such good auspices. He praised those who secured the official appointment for the new district attorney.

Mr. O'Brien's Address

Mr. O'Brien said in part:

"The dispatch with which you Rotarians dispose of your business reminds me of a story referring to a Boston convention, when Mayor Curley was running for chairmanship. A chairman of the convention listened to a point of order, agreed that it was well taken, and then was interrupted by a gentleman, who arose with a second point of order. He would 'suspend the constitution,' and by a two-thirds vote the 'suspension' was carried. Your president knows how to conduct your business session with similar dispatch.

"One of the greatest problems of today is the boy problem. I am glad to see you interested in it right here in Lowell. I am interested in it here, too. You are business men of a great state, interested in the people of the state.

"Have you any real idea of what crime costs in this commonwealth? It costs us more than $7,000,000 last year. We have 21 houses of correction and five state penal institutions, with many other institutions including insane hospitals. There are many people who have failed to carry on their share of this burden.

"We are spending all our energies to prevent crime, but there is a great deal more to do yet. More than 90 per cent of the entire population of the U. S. A. consists of unrepentant offenders. Bootlegging is a criminal offense, bootleggers are increasing. We are living in a period when near-Bolshevism reigns, and it is not a family-cry, but conditions after great wars are always serious. Children feel the effects of letting down the bars. There is a great reaction from former restraints.

"The International Association of Rotaries has a great work to carry on, and it is a noble program. You are certainly doing something for the boys of America. You can do more to promote law and order than all the judges and all the courts in the land. You can clean out local sinks of iniquity and wipe out sources of crime. Local houses and poolrooms that disobey the laws, need cleaning out, too. The children should be cared for early in life. Most of our habitual offenders are men whose careers were molded before they completed their courses in the grammar schools. Yet the worst rapscallion in your neighborhood, may become the finest citizen of the land under the right treatment.

Fighting Drug Peddlers

Dist. Atty. O'Brien believed the enormous list of 175,000 arrests in Massachusetts last year can be cut down to 75,000 and even more in another year. If laws are upheld and offenders punished promptly. Offenders, he went on, must be rehabilitated, not punished and left to themselves. Few real criminals will work out their own salvation without some help. The liquor and drug traffics are continuously working against the public health and moral, the district attorney continued.

He declared Boston was suffering from the drug traffic as it never was before. He said he intended to "drive the drug peddlers out" if he did nothing else while in office. He related startling stories of drug peddling to inmates of the Deer Island and Long Island correctional institutions, and told how long the distribution continued. He said he eventually cleaned up the traffic after getting at the bottom of the trade and finding out how the drugs were smuggled to the prisoners from Boston and vicinity. He believed in severe sentences for drug peddlers.

"State prison is the place for every one of them," said the speaker. "I hope to send within a year every drug peddler in my county to prison. At least we shall drive them out of the city, and we want to warn you Lowell citizens that some of the drug traffickers will want to continue their illicit trade right here among you. If you don't keep them out as we intend to do."

Mr. O'Brien gave vivid examples of drug cases that had come to his attention at various times in and about Boston. He closed his address by saying:

"If you will only do your duty as citizens and assist the courts of your state in enforcing law and order, you will find your government ready to defend you and co-operate. I believe the citizens of the old Bay State will continue to hold up our hands and help all officers of the law administer justice in our land."

FOR WRIT OF MANDAMUS

Codman Wants Indictments Not Prossed by Corcoran Restored

BOSTON, March 7.—A hearing on the petition of Edmund J. Codman for a writ of mandamus to compel the superior court for Middlesex county to restore to the docket indictments connected with the financing of the Hampden railroad which were not prossed by former District Attorney William J. Corcoran in 1918, was begun today before Supreme Court Justice Jenney.

The indictments charged members of the firm of P. S. Moncey & Co., Charles S. Miller, former president of the N. & M. R. R. and of the Boston & Maine railroad and officials of the Cambridge Savings bank and the East Cambridge Savings bank, with conspiracy and larceny in obtaining money for the use of the Hampden R. R. Co.

Mr. Codman also asked that the attorney general be directed to prosecute the indictments because of the alleged relationship of District Attorney Edmund P. Sullivan to some of the defendants.

The district attorney was the first witness. He told of an interview with General W. Crocker, counsel for Codman, in which the latter said that Sullivan was incapable of impartial conduct in the matter. Mr. Sullivan replied the office would be administered impartially. He said he declined a suggestion that the attorney-general take up the cases and offered to design an assistant. The witness said he was not certain that the statute of limitations did not apply.

STRIKERS NEED AID

Leader Appeals to All Red-Blooded Americans to Contribute to Hunger Fund

NEW YORK, March 7.—Russell Palmer, general secretary of the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America, today issued an appeal urging "every red-blooded, thirty-loving man and woman in America" to contribute to a hunger fund for striking mill workers in the Pawtucket valley of Rhode Island.

The union, he said, is feeling daily agony. Of the 5000 strikers, but funds are running low and unless help is obtained, "hunger may defeat them and their absolutely just cause."

The statement described squalid conditions under which the strikers, half of them women, are declared to have worked for years, and asserted the mill owners were trying to force wages down to an average of $17 a week for 41 hours.

"The combination of mill owners caused the governor to send armed militia into the peaceful Pawtucket valley to intimidate the strikers. A delegation of strikers with affidavits showing abuse by these troops of women and old men went to the state house and time and time again refused to see them."

It was only today that the deputy marshal discovered the identity of the squad of dry agents and he made the statement that it was fortunate for them that he was unarmed. ## MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL ENGAGE IN FIRST BATTLE OF THE YEAR

Fire Works in Aldermanic Chamber When Council Cuts Out Ash Department Foreman's Salary—Brown Says He Will Retain Wilson Despite Any Action on Part of the Councilors

Forked lightning played about the aldermanic chamber at city hall last night as the mayor and city council crossed swords in their first real clash of the year.

The breaking point was reached when the council voted to cut out from the estimates of the ash collection department the salary of the superintendent, Saiton Wilson. The mayor was in the chamber at the time.

Asking permission to address the council, Mr. Wilson told the councilors that they could cut out any item they pleased, but that the total appropriation was what really counted in the end.

"You have no executive powers," he said. "I have all the power. Cut out the superintendent's salary if you will—your power ends right there. All the powers formerly vested in the municipal council, I now hold.

"Cut out Mr. Wilson's pay, but I'll keep him there just the same. I say he is needed and I want him and that settles it."

President Hagley cut in with the remark: "There's that antagonistic spirit of yours showing up again, Mr. Mayor."

Several councilors were on their feet seeking recognition by the chair, all eager to take up the question for their body.

Councilor Gallagher was recognized. "Get down to business, Mr. Mayor," he said. "Go right with us and we will go right with you. Executive powers are divided 50-50 between you and this council. Your executive power is to

Ways and Means Committee Majority See Little Opposition to Bill in House

Expected, However, to Undergo Many Changes When It Reaches the Senate

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Republican leaders disclosed today that they were considering a plan to put the soldiers' bonus bill through the house under a suspension of the rules which would shut out amendments of any kind and limit debate to 40 minutes.

Under this plan a two-thirds vote would be necessary to pass the measure. Monday March 20 will be the next rules suspension day.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—After weeks of work and worry, the house ways and means committee majority has evolved a soldiers' bonus bill on which it apparently intends to stand pat.

The officers had quite a bit of trouble in locating the still, but after a half hour's work Sergt. Winn discovered two secret traps in which the contraband and equipment were secreted.

N. E. RECOVERING FROM BIG STORM

Swollen Rivers, Flooded Streets, Tangled Wires, Etc., Follow Severe Storm

One Death—40 Women Marooned in Theatre Carried Out by Police

40 Passengers Shaken up When Car Left Rails and Crashed Into Curb

BOSTON, March 8.—Swollen rivers, flooded highways, blocked traction tracks, tangled wires, derailed trolleys and stalled automobiles were left today as local effects of a rain and wind storm that swept New England last night. One death and several injuries were attributed to the storm.

Worcester Man Killed

Garrison Baker, 50, was killed at Worcester when the driving rain prevented him from seeing an automobile as he stepped from behind a trolley car.

Forty-two passengers were shaken up and several were injured when a trolley car left the slippery rails in the Dorchester district and brought up against the street curb, after tearing up 80 feet of pavement.

Richard Carter, 73 years old, was carried off his feet by the high wind in Woburn and suffered a broken leg.

40 Women and Girls Marooned

Forty women and girls, marooned in a Weymouth moving picture theatre by a miniature flood, were carried on the backs of police and theatre employees to high ground.

The Merrimack, Connecticut, Blackstone and other New England rivers were reported rising, clogged with floating ice. Water was running four feet and eight inches over the new Ameskeag dam at Manchester, N. H., and was sloshing through the concrete foundations of a new power station.

Houses Used in Streets

Rowboats were used in the streets of South Deerfield and Essex Junction, Vt. Motor vehicles were stalled and many roads were closed by floods in western Massachusetts. The Central Vermont railway line at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., was blocked by a bank of earth which slid across the tracks. Railroad traffic was interrupted near Springfield on the Connecticut River division of the Easthampton branch of the Boston & Maine R. R. by washouts and earth-clogged rails. Several trolley cars were derailed in Lowell by mud washed on the tracks.

Church Spire Blown Off

The metal spire attached to the cupola of St. John's Catholic church in Cambridge was blown to the ground. Leslie Knowles was buried with his automobile when his barn collapsed in East Weymouth. Firemen extricated him. A barn was toppled over in Lynn.

Power Plant Explosion

Provincetown was without electricity after a power plant explosion, believed to have been caused by the breaking of wires under pressure of the gale. Two theatres were abandoned by audiences as a result. Electric lights, telephones and telegraph stations in other localities were put out of commission. Hundreds of trees were blown down and cellars were flooded in many parts of New England.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR WOMEN

LONDON, March 8. (By the Associated Press.)—By a vote of 203 to 50, the house of commons today permitted Lord Robert Cecil to introduce a bill designed to extend suffrage to women on the same terms as men.

Sen. Lodge Makes Strong Plea for Ratification of Pacific Pact In Address to Senate

FLASHBOARDS ARE TORN AWAY

Water in River is Several Feet Over Dam at Pawtucket Falls

Acres of Ice Broken by Last Night's Storm Make Big Commotion

More than 200 feet of flashboards on the Pawtucketville dam were torn from their fastenings last night by the sudden breaking up of many acres of heavy ice from the dam rim back as far as the Gage ice houses, resulting in a rush of immense masses of jagged ice cakes that piled high and crashed down on the wooden structure that tops the great dam cap.

With a noise that could be heard miles away, the onrushing ice, piling in great heaps and tumbling about in the rushing river current, plunged into the flashboards on the Lowell side of the river as far out as a point just beyond the middle of the stream. As the big cakes smashed down in the high water, swirled over the rim and descended to the rocks below, many thousand feet of lumber used to construct the flashboards went down the stream in a torrent of whirling wood.

ILLEGAL COMPENSATION

8000 Government Employees Not Entitled to Benefits of Retirement Act

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Approximately 8,000 government employees, holding their positions by presidential order, are held to be not entitled to the benefits of the retirement act, in an opinion rendered by Attorney General Daugherty and transmitted to the interior department which administers the act.

Secretary Fall in accounting the opinion today said that out of 8,000 employees who have been retired under the act, 4,000 had been receiving compensation illegally and that upon receipt of the attorney general's ruling an order was issued that no more certificates for payment be issued.

The attorney general's opinion held that only those in the government service holding their positions as the result of competitive examinations were entitled to the benefits of the retirement act.

Secretary Fall said he had prepared a bill which has been submitted to the proper committees in congress in case it is congress' desire to incorporate within the benefits of the act the 8,000 employees and to protect in the future those who have already been retired.

FOUND GUILTY ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Two brothers, James and Peter Sokorakis, were found guilty of assault and battery on Alexander Patros in first district court by Judge Fisher this afternoon. Peter was fined $25 and James $10. Both appealed and were held in bonds of $200 each for the superior court. On a cross complaint Patros was found not guilty and discharged. Charges of drunkenness against the Sokorakis brothers were filed.

Warner, former speaker of the house, which was to have begun today, was further postponed until tomorrow. It will be decided by a jury. ### SENATE FIGHT IN FULL SWING

G. O. P. Leader Opens Battle With Strong Appeal for Ratification

Declares Failure Would Endanger Naval Limitation Pact

No Entangling Commitments and No Provisions Contrary to U. S. Traditions

WASHINGTON, March 8.—With opposition forces organizing for the fray, the senate fight over the four power Pacific treaty promises to get into full swing today when Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, delivered his speech in defense of the pact.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, planned to follow Senator Lodge in an address favoring his two proposed reservations to the treaty. It appeared likely that a general discussion would develop terminating the preliminary bill which has marked the treaty debate thus far.

That opponents are organizing to press their fight on the treaty was assured today through the knowledge that a definite plan of action had been agreed upon after consultation by Senator Borah, republican, and some of the friends of former President Wilson.

Just how far the sentiments of Mr. Wilson himself may be reflected in the understanding thus effected by the "irreconcilable" leader or how far reaching the understanding may be, has not been revealed.

Sen. Lodge Defends Pact

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and substitution of a political system actuated by peace in the Pacific was described in the senate today, by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, and a member of the four power delegation.

The "main purpose" of the four power Pacific treaty, he asserted, was to bring about a new era of peace and stability in the Pacific.

Senator Lodge declared, was regarded by the delegation as "the most dangerous element" in this government's relations with the Far East. He asserted that if the four power pact failed, the grave limitation of arms clause, threatening the alliance, would be endangered, resulting in "failure of the conference."

No Entangling Commitments

No entangling commitments are contained in the treaty, he asserted, and no provisions contrary to American traditions. He characterized it as "an experiment" but added that it was one that must succeed if the United States is to make good its professed desire to take the lead in guiding the world toward peace.

Senator Lodge declared, "I tell the senate with one voice, the nations which actuated the American delegation, Mr. Lodge said:

"After a month and more before the conference met, the American delegation was in session almost every day. We tried to determine and mark out the course which the American delegation, with whom rested the responsibility of initiating all the work of the conference, should follow. The delegation was in complete accord as to the policies to be pursued. The shadow of politics or of personal feuds never rested for a moment upon our deliberations."

"The American delegates were united in the desire to secure results from the conference which would promote the peace of the world, reduce in some measure the burden of taxation imposed by the existence of armies and fleets and the competition of armaments, and protect the future peace and safety of the United States. We were of one mind in agreeing that if we were to have any measure of success we must think in terms of the peace of the world, not in terms of the earth's surface at least, we could do something to substitute the assurance of peace for the arrangements and calculations of war."

Three Great Objectives

"Actuated by these beliefs and by this spirit, we were clearly of opinion that there lay before us three great objectives, three dominant purposes to be attained. One was the termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The next was an agreement between

SEES BIG IMPROVEMENT

Splendid Progress in Solving Agricultural Difficulties, Says Harding

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Declaration that "we are making splendid progress toward dissolution of our agricultural difficulties" is made by President Harding in a letter to Eugene V. Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, made public today at the White House.

The president in his letter, which was in reply to one from Director Meyer detailing the work of the war finance corporation, said "cheering" evidence had been presented to show that "we are moving fast towards establishing that necessary balance between the selling price of the producer and the costs of the consumer."

"I think we all recognize," the president added, "that when stability, prosperity and confidence shall have been restored to agriculture, the country will have progressed far on the way to general resumption of prosperous activity."

"I have read with much interest and gratification, your letter dealing with the operations of the war finance corporation," the letter said. "Although I have endeavored, as well as was possible in view of the many other duties concerning me, to keep in touch with the work of the corporation, I confess some astonishment at the scope which your operations have attained."

The president reviewed the work of the corporation, showing that it had approved more than 500 applications from banking and financing institutions for loans aggregating $137,500,000; $53,300,000 of applications for loans to co-operative marketing organizations; and advances totaling $37,500,000 to finance the export of agricultural commodities since the passage of the agricultural credit in August. He added:

"Such a volume of transactions indicates very clearly that the congress was correct in believing that an emergency existed for which such special measures of relief ought to be provided. Inasmuch as I myself have firmly supported this effort in behalf of agriculture from the beginning, I confess to some personal satisfaction in the showing you make."

"Your summary of the improvement in the agricultural price situation is especially impressive in view of the short period in which it has taken place. You tell me that, by reason of the farmers' receiving much better prices, an orderly liquidation is in progress throughout the country, resulting in considerable repayments to the corporation, and I assume, in even much larger volume to the banks."

Improved conditions of the market for agricultural commodities and the advance prices confirm the information I have received from the department of agriculture and other sources—corn at 60 cents at primary markets, as against 20 cents five or six months ago; wheat at above $1.10, as against approximately $1; fat lambs at $15.50 per hundred, as against $8.05, with the cattle, hogs and other products of the farm showing similar improvement."

"In expressing satisfaction with these improvements in the agricultural price situation, we are not ungrateful of the interest of the consuming public, which is concerned in behalf of more moderate limit costs. Unfortunately, the low prices of agricultural staples did not find adequate

Lowell Man, Accused of Illegally Keeping Liquor, Says He Paid $400 for Protection ---Patrolman Alleged to Have Accepted the Money Will Be Given Hearing This Evening

A Lowell patrolman, 10 years a member of the force, and at the present time said to be on the night shift will face an investigating body of three of his superior officers tonight following a complaint made to Acting Superintendent of Police W. C. MacBryne by a local man, who has been charged with illegally keeping liquor, that he paid $100 to the patrolman in question to secure protection against raids.

The names of the men involved have been kept in the dark and in fact the whole matter was being conducted quietly until newspaper men uncovered the facts and put the matter up to Superintendent MacBryne this morning.

Mr. MacBryne admitted that there was foundation for the rumor and finally said that Deputy Hugh Downey and Captain Peter and Atkinson had been appointed by him to sit at tonight's investigation. According to Mr. MacBryne if the investigating tribunal finds sufficient cause he will prefer charges against the patrolman, allow him to retain counsel and give him a public hearing. Mr. MacBryne will not be present at tonight's hearing which is to be a private one.

The reason for putting the soft pedal on the affair, according to the acting superintendent, is that there may be no foundation to the charge and that it may be only an attempt to vent personal spite. He said that he did not want any officer publicly held up unless there were sufficient grounds for so doing.

It was admitted, however, that the person making the charge intends to bring four others to the hearing tonight to substantiate his allegations. The result of the investigating board's findings will be communicated to the superintendent immediately following the investigation. If there is sufficient cause for a hearing the patrolman will be suspended; otherwise he may be given a clean bill.

ALLIANCE IS RATIFIED

International Executive Board of Mine Workers Approves Articles

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 8. The international executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, today unanimously ratified the articles of alliance between the transportation and mine workers' unions. Formal notification of the action will be filed with E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Telegraphers, who is secretary of the alliance.

BLACKJACKED WHILE ON WAY TO WORK

PATTECKEE, R. I., March 8.—Two employees of the Glenfield Dry Works, Joseph Osborne and Robert O. Burnside, were assaulted when passing the plant of the Dunell branch of the United States Shipping Co. today, when on their way to work. They say their assailant used a blackjack and mistook them for workers at the Dunell plant which is affected by the strike.

Osborne was taken by the assailant on duty to a hospital, while Burnside was treated by a Philadelphia official. Neither man is seriously injured.

RECOVERERS APPOINTED

NEW YORK, March 8.—Receivers in equity were appointed today by Federal Judge Connelley in Brooklyn, for the Standard Shipbuilding corporation at Shooter's Island, on the application of James Townend and Co., Ltd., of Glasgow, Scotland, which presented a claim for $300,000.

"The assets were stated to be large. Liabilities were listed as in excess of $250,000, and it was stated that there were liens on the property amounting to $2,000,000."

Reflection in a lowered cost of living. There can be no restoration of general business facilities without the establishment of a reasonable relationship between the producers' selling price and the costs of the consumer. These facts which you cite are cheering evidences that we are moving fast towards establishing that necessary balance. We are making splendid progress toward dissolution of our agricultural difficulties, and I think we all recognize and anticipate that when stability, prosperity and confidence shall have been restored to agriculture the country will have progressed far on the way to general resumption of prosperous activity."

After recommending that Mr. Meyer make another trip through the agricultural sections, Mr. Harding said: "I would like to have in the report such information as you can conveniently give me concerning the dealings of the corporation with the various co-operative marketing organizations. As you know, I have been strongly committed to this form of organization among the farmers, believing that it must ultimately insure to their very great advantage. The fact that the corporation has been able to conduct very large financial operations with their associations, on a sound basis, suggests large possibilities for the expanded usefulness of this type of agricultural organization. I would be glad to have whatever information you can give me that will be calculated to enlighten the way to finding about such increased effectiveness."

SCHOOL BOARD
HOLDS MEETING

Increase of Salaries for Women Assistant Physical Instructors Discussed

Francis J. O'Brien Elected Assistant Physical Instructor—Other Business

That the salaries of the women assistant physical instructors in the elementary schools be raised from $1200 to $1800 so as to bring them on a level with the pay of the men assistants, was the substance of a motion presented at last evening's meeting of the school board by Mr. Slaughter. After some discussion, however, it was voted to lay the matter on the table as it was felt that increases in salaries at this time would result in having other employees of the department come forward with demands for increases.

Francis J. O'Brien was elected assistant physical instructor.

The meeting, which was scheduled for 7:30 o'clock, was called to order at 8:58 o'clock with all members present. Mrs. Pearson, who was out of town, in the course of the meeting there was a lengthy discussion of physical training in the elementary and high school grades, and Americanization was also the subject of considerable discussion. Mr. Delaney coming out with a statement that the part of the school program being overdone, stating that more attention should be given to the school children than to adults who are employed in the mills. "We should Americanize our school children and leave the foreign adults alone," he said.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read, Mr. Sullivan said the motion he made at the last meeting was misconstrued by the members of the Teachers' organization. He said the intent of his motion was to prevent regular teachers who teach day and evening classes from teaching Americanization classes, feeling that this was too much of a physical burden for any woman. He wished it understood that he did not intend in any way to prevent day teachers from teaching evening classes.

The report of the committee on rules was adopted as submitted. George Russell filed a request to be allowed to take pictures of graduating classes in the high and elementary schools. The request was laid on the table. Several applications for positions to teach at the high school were placed on file. On recommendation of the military instructors at the high school, the date of the annual regimental examinations was changed from October to June, as it was felt that such a change would be of great benefit to the members of the regiment.

A request was received from a teacher for permission to allow Maj. Jeyes and Business Agent Williams to conduct a movie show in one of the school buildings for the benefit of the school fund. Mr. Delaney asked if such an entertainment would not conflict with the state law and Major Jeyes replied his machine was perfectly safe and could be operated in any home or building without interfering with the fire laws. The request was laid on the table.

At the request of the Lowell Electric Light Corp., the chairman was authorized to sign a written agreement allowing the company to trespass on school land in Sycamore street with its wires in order to supply service to the Sycamore street school. Principal Harris of the high school announced that the date for the evening high school graduation had been set on April 4 and he requested the board to make an appropriation for the exercises. The sum of $100 was appropriated.

Physical Culture
At this point Mr. Delaney moved that regular business be suspended in order to give Messrs. MacIntyre and Jeyes an opportunity to tell the board what had been done in the line of physical culture in the schools and also to speak on future plans. The motion was carried.

Mr. MacIntyre then outlined what has been done in the schools since he was elected supervisor of physical training, saying that the various schools have been divided into groups, each group being assigned 25 or 30 physical instructors to watch closely for physical defects in the pupils and to turn such cases over to the medical examiners whenever necessary. He told of the various exercises the children are put through and said he believed in segregating the sexes in the junior high schools, as the exercises for the boys in such schools should not be the same as for girls. Mr. MacIntyre answered numerous questions and he stated that at the present time the department compares favorably with physical departments of other cities of the size of Lowell.

A general discussion on physical training followed during which Mr. Delaney said he has figured out that 20 per cent of the children's time is being taken up by physical training and recreation. Mr. Delaney stated that the physical training is in accordance with a state law. Mr. Delaney said he believed if the schools are to have physical training, it should be thoroughly done and Mr. Lambert replied, "We can't get rid of it."

"Then, let's do it right," said Mr. Delaney.

Mr. Delaney wanted to know if some of the physical training could not be given during the recess period, and Mr. Molloy replied that there was a decided objection to taking up the time of recess with a school program.

Five Girls Explained
Major Jeyes was then called upon to explain what had been done in the line of fire drills and the prevention of accidents. He stated that as a result of his work with the children, a commendation has been received from state officials and he said his safety drill campaign resulted in reducing greatly the number of accidents in this city. Questioned by Mr. Lambert, the major said there was nothing being done along that line now, for he has not the time to devote to it.

Dr. Slaughter asked if it would not be beneficial for the girls to wear bloomers during the physical training period, and Major Jeyes replied it would be the best thing over for them. Dr. Slaughter said he believed with the physical culture and other facts there is no time left for study.

Miss Downey, president of the Teachers' organization, spoke in behalf of her organization, and said the teachers had three requests to make to the board. First, to install a no-school signal that would be distinctly heard in all parts of the city; second, to reconsider the ruling recently made, forbidding the sale of candy in the schools; and third, an interpretation of the recent motion made by Mr. Sullivan, dealing with the teaching of two class sessions. At this point Mr. Sullivan explained the intent of his motion and this brought about a lengthy discussion, the main point of which was how and when did the teachers who teach Americanization classes in the mills at noon eat lunch. Mr. Delaney, another member of the Teachers' association, also spoke on the matter and he said the state reimburses the city half the expense of the Americanization classes, and it insists upon trained teachers. It was at this point that Mr. Delaney stated that Americanization was being overdone and that the school children should be looked after first.

Assistant Physical Instructor

The regular business of the department was then resumed and on recommendation of the supervisor of janitors, Cornelius J. Barnes, a temporary janitor, was elected permanently. Miss Mary A. Dignan was elected a permanent janitor. On motion of Mr. Mullin, Miss Mary T. Biley was elected teacher of sewing in the elementary schools. Mr. Delaney moved that Francis J. O'Brien be elected an assistant physical instructor and Dr. Slaughter moved that the matter be laid on the table in favor of other candidates. Dr. Slaughter's motion was defeated and Mr. O'Brien was elected to the position. Mr. Lambert, Dr. Slaughter and Dr. Slaughter voting in the negative.

The name of Joseph, Duffy was brought forward by Mr. Sullivan for physical instructor at the high school. Dr. Slaughter opposed the election of Mr. Duffy on the ground that he did not know of the man's qualifications for the position. Mr. MacIntyre said there was no need of a physical instructor at the school at the present time. Mr. Sullivan then changed the wording of his motion from physical instructor to permanent coach, but on motion of Mr. Lambert the matter was laid on the table until the next meeting.

The board voted to purchase 130 copies of Cowley's history of Lowell at 25 cents a copy. Dr. Slaughter then moved that the salaries of the women assistant physical instructors be raised to the level of that of the men, saying that inasmuch as the women are now entitled to vote and that they are doing as much work as the men, they should receive the same compensation. Mr. MacIntyre said the only difference in the work on the part of the men was that they have outside athletics after school hours. Major Jeyes said the women working with him are doing the same work as he is. There was further discussion and finally on motion of Mrs. Donovan the matter was laid on the table.

Mr. Delaney moved and it was so voted that the salary of Mr. O'Brien be fixed at the regular schedule. Mr. Lambert stated that if he voted against Mr. O'Brien it was not because he had anything against him, but it was simply because Mr. MacIntyre had repeated on two different occasions during the meeting that his department was well manned and that additional instructors were not needed at the present time. Mr. Delaney said the Greenhidge school had neglected as far as physical training is concerned and it was for the benefit of the people of his district that he presented Mr. O'Brien's name.

PARK BOARD MEETING

Annual Report of Supt. Kernan Accepted by Board—
Other Business

The acceptance of Supt. John W. Kernan's annual report, and a special report made on survey of city trees since the winter storms, embraced the chief business to come before the monthly meeting of the park commission held last night in city hall. It was voted to furnish a foreman from the park department to supervise gangs of men, recruited under the $30,000 emergency act, which will repair damaged trees along the Pawtucket boulevard. The move came as the result of two propositions submitted by Supt. of Streets Doherty. His first proposition was the one accepted while the other, to furnish the park department with gangs from the emergency fund for general tree work, was not accepted. This latter offer was turned down because the commission thought little good could be accomplished by unskilled hands working in three-day shifts only.

An opinion was received from the city solicitor which disposed with the borrowing of money for an emergency fund or a permanent fund for repairing damaged trees. The opinion was adverse.

It was voted to have bids received for the printing of the annual report. A petition was received from Ivan O. Small and others asking that shade trees be set out in Arcadia avenue. The request was granted and left with the tree committee for fulfillment.

Councillor Chadwick of ward 8 appeared before the board with a carded report that work on Lincoln park would not be lost sight of even though the park department's appropriation got a severe slicing in the city council. It was voted to give Mrs. C. F. Hunt permission to have a tree removed at 26 Hanks street, the cost to be borne by her. On a petition from Charles Miller, a damaged poplar tree at 312 Boylston street will be removed.

Jason Hunt of 41 Grove street asked that two trees be removed. It was voted to try removing these trees rather than removing them. A. J. Coutu, asked to have removed a horse chestnut tree at 63 Branch street. The request was granted with the stipulation that the petitioner bear the expense. Atty. Arthur L. Mayo appeared for Mr. Coutu.

Mr. Kernan was complimented highly by the commissioners for his excellent report and for the recognition in it of the fact that even though no action taken on them. The tree survey report was accompanied by 14 photographs showing the condition of damaged trees in all parts of the city. The pictures were taken by Charles F. Preston of the city engineer's office.

Supt. Kernan's Report
Supt. John W. Kernan submitted an exhaustive report and stresses the necessity of park-area expansion. He said, however, that he had not altered his belief, expressed in earlier reports, that the full development of a park is something that should be carried on slowly and with great care.

Useful and valuable as are these different areas already secured, the report reads, I see in them but a fragment of the work that is clearly set for our performance. A few opportunities that in all human probability would never have remained available after this decade, have been utilized, while other projects scarcely less essential, have been daily slipping away or growing more difficult.

So although we have made a showing upon the map, we are brought to realize more and more, both from our own daily experiences as we study our project, and from every bit of testimony that comes to us from other cities, that a more comprehensive way must sooner or later be adopted in dealing with the growth of the city.

Since this necessity comes about largely through the growth of the outlying districts, it may well be considered as one of the necessary penalties of prosperity.

For the future, the work which is required of this department is constantly increasing in difficulty and amount. For instance, in acquiring added tracts to our system; at first rough preliminary plans were all that were desired. Now, accurate topographical maps of large areas must be made; many questions and details in connection with the purchase of land require attention. Dead ends must be drawn, the easements of which involves considerable work in some cases. A great many projects remain to be studied in a preliminary way, and this work must not be allowed to drop because some excellent additions to our park system might be lost through lack of knowledge of its merits and the need of haste. It is in the interest of true economy that accurate and sufficient information should be obtained about those projects, in order that no mistake, which would be costly to rectify later, should be made in purchasing land.

Report on Trees
That part of the superintendent's report dealing with trees, included the following:
The work of planting and caring for street trees should not be underestimated.

The planting of young trees along the street tends to give to the city a character, which makes a good first impression to a stranger. While we appreciate that this work enhances the beauty of our city, the healthfulness it creates is even more important.

A few years ago we managed to inaugurate a street tree planting campaign, taking some one street in each section of the city which was practically bare of trees, and setting out young ones. Thus far we have added two species, the Norway maple and the pin oak, both of which seemed to thrive well. Because of our meagre funds we have only been able to set out in the neighborhood of two hundred a year, which is small indeed, considering the fact that one of our sister cities sets out several thousand.

In the matter of trimming and pruning trees it should be done tree after tree along the same street, thus eliminating loss of time going from one job to another. After the pruning, all cuts should be disinfected, preventing entrance of disease and insuring rapid healing. Properly done, all dead wood, interfering branches, and branches hanging lower than ten feet from the sidewalk, are removed. The tops of soft-wooded trees should also be cut back, so as to prevent development of slender heights, thereby growing more sturdy and shapely. No work of this nature by any of the public service corporations or even individuals, is permitted except under our supervision and direction.

On November 28th our city was visited by a severe ice and sleet storm; the like of which few inhabitants have ever witnessed. Trees were uprooted and many branches and limbs were not only broken off but entangled in a net work of live wires, in all parts of our city. Many valuable specimen trees in our parks were destroyed which time alone can repair.

We started at once to clean up the debris, employing a large force of men and teams. Our progress was

The five principal allied and associated powers seated at the table for a reduction of naval armaments. The third was to accomplish all that was possible to aid China in such ways as to help her in the establishment of a free and independent government and particularly to secure the restoration of the great province of Shantung to the Chinese empire to which it rightfully belonged.

We succeeded before the close of the conference in attaining all these objects. The treaty now before us terminates the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Personally I believe that it is in the interest of the United States in no obligation except to meet with the other signatories and consult in case of any controversy arising or in case of aggression by some outside power not a signatory. I repeat that I think the obligation to meet and consult is the only obligation existing in the treaty and the main purpose of the treaty is attained by the termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Most Dangerous Element

"It is not necessary for me to go into detail as to the reasons for my opinion as to the great importance of this single achievement. It is sufficient to say that in my judgment, the Anglo-Japanese alliance was the most dangerous element in our relations with the Far East and with the Pacific. Wars came from suspicion which develop into hatreds and hatred which develop into war. The Anglo-Japanese alliance caused a growing feeling of suspicion not only in the United States but in Canada. On the other side it tended to give a background to Japan which encouraged the war spirit and large preparations both by land and sea for future conflict. It immobilized England and prevented the exercise of her influence in the east for the cause of peace and peace is distinctly in her interest in that great region. That motive to peace is removed by the four power treaty.

Removal of Alliance Complete

"I have already shown the total difference which exists between the treaty and the Anglo-Japanese alliance. There is no likeness between that alliance and this treaty. Far from taking the place of the other, this treaty simply enabled England and Australia and New Zealand to take part in terminating the alliance. The removal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which is complete, created the situation in which it was possible to bring about an agreement for the reduction of naval armaments. While that alliance existed a reduction of naval armaments was difficult if not impracticable.

"Senators should bear in mind that the defeat of that four power treaty would endanger the treaty for the limitation of naval armaments, and the failure of the naval treaty would shock and startle the world and bitterly disappoint the American people. We must not forget the close relation between the two treaties. The defeat of the four power treaty would mean the failure of the conference. Let there be no illusion on that point.

To Promote Peace of World

"The purpose of the American delegation in the conference and, I think, of all other members of the conference besides those of the United States, was to endeavor to do something at once practical and concrete which would promote the peace of the world. They believed that this could be done without alliances or pacts. Such experiments have been made in the past in isolated instances but the experiment has never been successful under similar conditions. We have passed through a war the like of which the world has never seen. The misery and the horrors of the great war must never come again if we can do anything to stop it. We must try our best to secure this great result.

"I know it is only an experiment, but I have faith to believe that the better instincts of mankind are with us in the effort. If we continue to preach suspicion and hatred of other nations, if we decline to deal with them and believe that they are actuated by the basest of motives, noting can ever be done. I have faith to believe that his effort, illustrated by this treaty now before us, will have a large and real result in maintaining the world's peace. If we fail the outlook for the future is dark indeed.

Defeat Not In U. S. History

"The best hope of the world for a future where peace may prevail and wars diminish is in the people of the United States. If we fail, who can hope to succeed? We called this conference. We proposed the treaties, agreements and declarations in which the conference culminated. Are we now to stumble and fall at the threshold of the undertaking which we designed and brought to fulfillment? Are we to sink back into a sullen solitude, a pray to dark suspicions, a hermit nation armed to the teeth and looking forward always to war as inseparable from the existence of mankind upon the earth?

"The United States has never yet permitted failure or defeat to be written in her history. She will not permit it now."

PORTLAND, Me., March 8.—Organization of the Maine Film Co. for the purpose of producing motion pictures of the Maine coast, lakes, rivers and villages as described by foreign authors, was announced today. ### RAILROAD STATION

DESTROYED BY FIRE

TAUNTON, March 8.—The station of the New Haven road at North Raynham was totally destroyed by fire this morning. The fire started at the telegraph switchboard, probably from wires crossed with a heavier current. Aid was called from Taunton. An empty freight car was also burned. Railroad officials were unable this morning to estimate the loss.

SPIRIT FAILS TO WALK

HALIFAX, N. S., March 8.—(By the Associated Press.) Obviously embarrassed by the presence of so many strange mortals in his favorite haunt, the ghost of Antigonish did not walk last night. This was the substance of a bulletin issued today by Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, director of the American Institute of Scientific Research, who came all the way from New York to make the restless spirit's acquaintance.

Woolens stay soft and fleecy washed this way, says Carter, maker of knit underwear

THE WILLIAM CARTER COMPANY
Carter's KNIT Underwear.

Lever Bros. Co.,
Cambridge, Mass.
Gentlemen:

We took several infants' shirts and had them washed in Lux the average number of times a shirt is washed before the baby outgrows it. At the end of these washings the shirts were soft and fleecy and as unshrunk as if washed in water alone.

These tests prove to our entire satisfaction that a mother cannot do better than to wash her baby woolens in Lux.

The success with Lux is due not merely to its flake form, which makes all rubbing unnecessary, but to the fact that its lather is exceptionally mild and cleansing. A soap or soap flake at all harsh "felts" or shrinks wool.

We are willing to say, without qualification, that Lux will not shrink or injure woolens and we heartily recommend it for laundering them.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Daniel Corba, Castalia, Ohio, writes: "If it wasn't for your remedy I would not have a husband today. Everyone said my husband has consumption. He was getting thinner every day. He could not eat anything, and his feet were always sore. Everyone said that his lungs were full of dust from bricks, for he worked in a brick factory. Every time he would go to do something he had to sit down and take a rest. Doctors' medicines did not help him. I then ordered 6 bottles of Bosak's Horke VINO. After taking the first two bottles his appetite was better and his feet did not hurt him. He continued taking it and is feeling fine. I would not be without it for one day. ## HUMANE SOCIETY AGENT

Round Out 25 Years of Service Tomorrow

On March 9, 1897, the late C. H. Coburn, at that time president of the Lowell Humane society, appointed Charles F. Richardson agent of the society, to succeed the retiring agent, James H. Drury, who had held the office for seven years. Therefore, Agent Richardson completes 25 years of service tomorrow, and in this time has watched the society expand immeasurably; for at the beginning the agent had a desk in a law office at 91 Central street and worked alone, while at the present time he has a spacious office, with a private sanatorium attached, at 238 Central street.

At the time of his appointment the present agent had a desk in the office of Attorney Thomas J. Enright and Frederick Lawton, now judges of the superior and district courts, respectively, in the building at 71 Central street, known as Tyler's block, now occupied by bowling alleys. After Judge Lawton's appointment to the bench he remained with Judge Enright until he was designated to preside over the police, now the district court. Thus he and the district court judge were associated for 16 years. After Judge Enright's appointment, he removed to his present quarters in the old Boston and Maine depot building.

The Lowell Humane society was organized in May, 1873, for the care of neglected and abused children and animals. Becoming agent during the presidency of Charles H. Coburn in 1897, Mr. Richardson has been the society's agent during more than half of its period of existence, and has served consecutively under the following presidents: Judge Frederic A. Fisher, Frederick P. Marble, Esq., Robert F. Marden and George Stevens, the present executive. Of the directors who held office at the time of the present agent's appointment, only three are left, so Mr. Richardson can remember; Mrs. George F. Richardson, Miss Frances M. Robinson and Miss Mary Nesmith. Agent Richardson recalls insisting but one meeting during his incumbency, and has enjoyed the best of health throughout his years of service.

In connection with his work at the juvenile court, Agent Richardson served for years in the interest of neglected and delinquent children without any official designation, until the late Judge Samuel P. Hadley appointed him as probation officer for juveniles. The agent is distinctly proud of the fact that of the hundreds of boys who have been placed under his care, less than ten per cent. have proved themselves incorrigible. He points with pleasure the eminent positions now held by numbers of his former charges, and is a devout believer in the theory that there is good in everyone, and that the good may be brought out by proper treatment and supervision.

During his service as agent Mr. Richardson accords great praise to the helpful influence and invaluable assistance given him by Judge Enright, who has been interested in the society's work from its early days and is still its staunch friend. Agent Richardson particularly appreciates the co-operation extended him by the judge since his assumption of the bench, some nine years ago.

Starting in as agent alone and unaided in the performance of his duties, Agent Richardson led a very strenuous life until, a few years ago, when C. Fred Willmore was appointed his assistant and rendered excellent service until he assumed the position of parole officer of the Lyman school, under the supervision of the boy's parole department of Massachusetts training schools. At the present time the agent is assisted by Harrison R. Baker, a former Y.D. man, who has had considerable experience with horses, and a competent stenographer, Miss Elita L. Melton.

Residing being agent for the Humane society, Mr. Richardson is also agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and in this connection the installation of the gas box in the rear of the police station and an electric cage for stray cats, now out of order, are the results of Agent Richardson's work.

PICKETS IN BIG DEMONSTRATION

Several Hundred Crossed East Providence Line Into Phillipsdale This Morning

Labor Leaders Declare All Workers in Mill Controlled by Sayles Interests Quit

PAWBUCKET, R. I., March 8.—Several hundred pickets crossed the East Providence line into Phillipsdale this morning and made a demonstration near the Glenlyon Dye works controlled by the Sayles interests. Labor leaders claimed that practically all the workers joined their ranks. A similar demonstration was made yesterday at this plant but it brought no result.

About 150 persons are employed at this plant. Special details of police from Attleboro were on duty at the plant of the Crown Manufacturing Co., and Home Bleach & Dye Works just over the Attleboro line this morning. A detail of soldiers also took up positions on the Rhode Island side of the line. This was occasioned by disorder said to have broken out among strike sympathizers last night when stones were thrown at workers leaving the plants and at the buildings. It was said that one of the windows of the Home Bleach & Dye works building was broken. The demonstration this morning was noisy but not violent. Soldiers say they threw stones which had been piled up near the boundary line into the river. Officials of the Sayles Co. say that the strike at Phillipsdale was confined to the Glenlyon Dye works and about 50 of the 100 employees there went out. The strike has not, they say, affected the Glenlyon Print Works located at the same place.

HITS ON OATS
The following hits on one car of white clipped oats for the street department were opened this morning in the office of the purchasing agent: Wesley M. Wilder, 55 cents per bushel; Joseph Mullin, 55 cents; Paul Vincent, 55 1/2 cents; Foster Grain Co., 54 1/2 cents.

Happy Results in Both Cases

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"Both of my sides swelled and hurt me so that I could not move or do any of my work. There was heavy pressure and pains through my lower organs and the doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for these troubles. He said I had this one chance, and if the Vegetable Compound did not help me nothing but an operation would. After taking several bottles I felt it was helping me and now I am able to do my own work. thing was reported quiet early today. Heavy picketing was the rule, and mass demonstrations were made at several plants which are in operation. There was no disorder.

Labor leaders at mass meetings last night announced the terms of the new plan of the state board which is a compromise. The board's proposal is that the 45-hour week be retained and that the operatives accept a wage cut of 10 per cent.

William H. Derrick, organizer for the Amalgamated Textile Workers, leader of the strike in the Pawtuxet valley, announced that the new plan of the state board would be considered by the general strike committee at 4 o'clock.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results From an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food delayed in the stomach, decays, or rather ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten enters in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we bricn up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Epsom Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is in force, and furthermore to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

B. F. KELTIE'S THEATRE
Kate Ellmore and Sam Williams, who are entertaining many friends at the B. F. Keltie theatre this week, have probably the funniest act in the city. They have a number of "Wanted—A Cook" in its title, and Miss Ellmore's impersonations are the last word in comedy effects. It is one of the best of the kind in the city. Eleanor Hull and her brother are also on this bill, giving a specially good musical act. Miss Ball as a violinist is probably the best in the city, and the "cellist" is a splendid musician. "Show Me" in which Walter Fenner & Co. appear, is an odd little comedy. The remainder of the bill is of a high standard, including: Faber & McGowan, in "The Compasses"; Roy & Arthur, in a juggling comedy; the acrobats, a real jazz singer, and Van & Tyson, snappy dancers.

THE STRAND
The last showing of one of the best triple-features of the season will be given at the Strand. If you haven't seen it, be sure and avail yourself of the limited opportunity today. Viola Dana in "There Are No Girls in the House" is a splendid actress. Ham Hamilton in "Cheated Hearts" and Buster Keaton in "The Playhouse" is a great bill and has wide variety.

Beginning with matinee on Thursday and continuing through the remainder of the week the management will present "Katie" and "Sam" written by himself for the screen. It tells in a most artistic manner and a wonderfully entertaining way, the story of a girl who is in love with a girl, whom he bought with gold. It was but an episode in his life, but it was her whole existence. It is termed the "secret service" story.

William Russell in "Singing River" is a fast moving story that has all of the action and thrills desired. Ruth Rogers in "The Girl Who Came to Stay" is a story of a girl who is in love with a girl, whom he bought with gold. It was but an episode in his life, but it was her whole existence. It is termed the "secret service" story.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square theatre of "Forever," George Fitzmaurice's Paramount production of the story of an English nobleman, Wallace Holt and Fale Ferguson are in the leading roles. Tomorrow there will be a complete change of program. The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be in keeping with the observance of the 10th annual Paramount week, which is being celebrated in theatres all over the country. This week, William S. Hart, the noted western star, in "Travelin' On," and Will Rogers and Lila Lee in "One Glorious Day" will be the outstanding attractions for the week-end.

"Travelin' On" is a vivid, unusual story with exquisite settings and a great star. The picture is a virile depiction of America as it was in its most picturesque days, when might was right and a highly-strung trigger finger dictated the law. It introduces new characters, which have long ceased to exist, chief among them being the very zealot, traveling from town to town in a wagon painted with biological phrases, preaching the word of God in the face of most determined opposition. In this, and in many other respects the picture is truly an epic of the west, for it is a truly heroic battle for posterity the west as it was and as it will never be again. The supporting cast includes Ethel Grey Terry, Brinsley Shaw and Mary Jane Irving.

Second feature, "One Glorious Day," featuring Will Rogers and Lila Lee, is a most entertaining production. It is a comedy filled with laughs and mystery and now and then a bit of pathos. The featured players are excellently cast and the support is clever. Don't miss it.

A comedy, "Pure and Simple," and the International News will complete the bill.

THE CROWN THEATRE
Diving 25 or more feet into icy water at Mammoth, Cal., fully dressed in a heavy fringed buckskin suit, was one of the feats accomplished by Jack Holt, in his first Paramount star picture, "The Call of the North," which will be the feature at the Crown theatre for two days beginning today.

The scene shows a rescue, wherein Holt brings Francis McDonald safely ashore, the latter having been taken by a backwash dive from the side of the rocky cliff, a distance of 16 feet.

The water was extremely cold. As soon as the scene was made the actors began to shiver. Holt, however, for the purpose of drying them out. But the inexperienced "rescuer" built his fire on top of the cliff where the wind blew from a four quarters at once, scorching and the drenched star and his companion in misery were pretty well chilled before they were dried out.

REALTY THEATRE
"Crowds are pouring in to see Jackie Coogan's latest work in "My Boy," which is showing at the Realty theatre for the entire week. It is the very best picture that Coogan has yet appeared in, even eclipsing "Pec's Bad Boy" and "The Kid." On the same program for today is Jack Richards in "Dangerous Love," also a comedy and the Klugegrams. Don't fail to see it.

THIN, FLAT HAIR GROWS LONG, THICK AND ABUNDANT

"Danderine" costs only 35 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. Just what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first, yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.—Adv.

STRIKE RIOT VICTIMS TESTIFY AT INQUEST

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 8.—Three men who were wounded in the strike riots of Feb. 21 and one who was arrested at that time on a charge of rioting, gave evidence yesterday when the inquest into the death of Jose Assuncao, a Portuguese national killed when Pawtucket police used shotguns to disperse crowds at the plant of the Janes Spinning Co., was resumed. The inquest will go on this afternoon.

All four witnesses testified in the Portuguese language. At the close of hearing Coroner Thomas S. Vance announced he had found a witness who claimed to have seen Assuncao killed and could identify the man who fired the shot. This witness will be called.

It was stated, after a search has been made for corroborative testimony. Ernesto Pachada of Valley Falls, a truck driver, said that he and Assuncao had been delivering groceries with a truck on the morning of the riots. A customer living near the Janes plant was not at home so the two looked for him in the crowd assembled in the street there. When the police opened fire Pachada was shot in the right arm. Later he found that Assuncao had been killed.

José Maria Dies of Pawtucket, who was on picket duty at the Janes mill on the morning of the riots, said the police had fired immediately after the arrival on the scene of a man, "said by the crowd to be the mayor of the city." He was shot through the body and fell.

Then, he alleged, policeman standing three yards away fired three more shots at him, wounding him in the neck. Dies showed the court his body wounds and three shot scars in his neck. He also produced the cap he said he wore at the time, perforated and burned with buckshot. José Pachada, of Pawtucket, another picket of that day, said a union leader told the strikers to retire just before the shooting. He was shot in the left toe of his right foot, he said. José Martins, of Pawtucket, at present on bail of $1000 on a rioting charge, said he was clubbed and beaten over the head with rifle butts when he attempted to assist a girl a policeman was treating roughly. He denied that he had struck Mayor Kenyon with his hat during the riot and said he did not know what he was arrested for.

LOWELL EAGLES. Worthy President James F. Bourke occupied the chair at last evening's meeting of Lowell aerie of Eagles. The auditing committee was appointed as follows: A. Bentley, C. O'Keefe and J. Hughes. A communication was received from the Lawrence aerie to the effect that a baseball league was about to be formed among aeries from Lawrence.

VIRTUAL BLOCKADE IS SAYS U. S. CAN SAVE GENOA CONFERENCE

FLORENCE, March 8.—(By the Associated Press)—A virtual blockade was thrown around Fiume yesterday by Italian Commissioner Castelli. He issued orders forbidding the entrance into the city of any but Fiume citizens and ordering the disarming of all private persons. Those who participated in the recent conflicts which led to the overthrow of President Zanella's government, together with all strangers having no legitimate business in the city, will be thrown out en masse, according to Commissioner Castelli's order, so that Italy can redeem the pledge given to the Yugoslavs in the treaty of Rapallo declaring Fiume a free state. Four Italian deputies—Giunta, de Stefani, Lancillotti and Vassallo—met with nationalist representatives today to decide what course to follow now that the constituted government had been overthrown. All agreed that the treaty of Rapallo should be fulfilled, but failed to decide upon a head for the Fiume government who would maintain the nationalist viewpoint.

Signor Zanella is reported to have left for Italy on his way to Vienna. The organ of the Italian nationalists here, the Vedetta d'Italia, reports that the government palace was "Zanella's arsenal," that 27 cases of rifles were found by the insurgents, together with 15 machine guns and 800,000 cartridges. Orders have been given the Italian command on the Fiume frontier to refuse visas to enter the city and prevent the passage of all strangers attempting to come in.

Haverhill, Lowell, Manchester, Derry and Nashua, N. H., and the following committee was appointed to attend a meeting of baseball delegates which will be held in Lawrence, March 26: J. Driscoll, James Bowen and P. J. McNabb. Remarks in the interest of the aerie were made by J. Bowen and George McCabe.

YESTERDAY WAS BUSY DAY AT CITY HALL

While the storm roared outside and whipped great sheets of rain against the windows of city hall late yesterday afternoon and last night, one of the busiest days of the present administration was going on within.

Beginning with the meeting of the board of public service at 4 o'clock, it was well into the late hours of the night before City Messenger Owen Monahan locked the doors.

"Nothing to do till tomorrow," he commented, as he left for home.

The public service board was in session for four hours and snatched a sandwich and a cup of coffee just before going into the meeting of the city council at 8 o'clock.

The council, sitting as a committee on appropriations, occupied the regular council chamber. The special committee of the council appointed to confer with local legislators on the proposition to borrow $500,000 outside the debt limit, was in the mayor's reception room.

The park commission met in regular session in its rooms at 5 o'clock, while amidst the school committee conferred and then settled down for the transaction of business.

For a bad night, it was a busy one, all.

BARBERS WILL HOLD MASS MEETING

The master barbers of Lowell and vicinity are quoted today as declining to meet the demands of the striking tonorial artists for a better wage scale. In an effort to clear up the present situation and "get together," the general strike situation and problems, as well as proposed arrangements for an amicable understanding with some sort of a satisfactory concession on the part of both sides, will be considered at a mass meeting of all Lowell barbers in Trades and Labor hall Thursday evening.

Anthony Merlino, international organizer of the Barbers' union, calls the meeting. He appeared last evening before the organization meeting and delivered a stirring address on the local situation and the possibilities of a settlement of the strike. The union barbers hope that all barbers in the city, whether members of the union or not, will attend the Thursday night rally.

President Clarence Cox of the master barbers, reiterates his previous statement that the striking barbers will come back to work only when they accept the wage offer of $20 straight weekly salary and one-half over $30.

President Cox states that two of the local barbers had broken from the ranks and returned to their old jobs. The union representatives said these men returned some time ago but the remainder are holding firm and intend to stay away from the shops where they were formerly employed, until a settlement is reached satisfactory to everybody. Last night's meeting was presided over by President Herbert Jordan of the journeymen's lo-

THOSE RESERVATIONS

Just at present, the republican leaders are much exercised over the alleged perversity of a few republicans and a number of democrats who are being charged with the offense of lese majeste in presuming to add reservations to one or more of the treaties evolved by the Washington arms limitation conference.

No caustic are these republican outbursts of indignation, that one unacquainted with the situation might suppose that treaty reservations were never heard of before and that it was something in the nature of a census befall for a senator to exercise his right in safeguarding the interests of the nation according to his best judgment.

Here is Senator Pepper, the new "scholar in politics," Senator Lodge being the senior claimant to that title, coming out with a statement that it is actually discourteous to the foreign nations which we invited to participate in the conference to tack reservations to the treaties mutually agreed upon. "It is," he says, "as if after inviting guests to tea, we reminded them that they must understand they are not to remain for dinner. It shows mistrust of the friendly nations that honored us by sending their diplomats to Washington!" Imagine such delicacy in dealing with two nations, England and Japan, that through their shrewd and well trained diplomats outmaneuvered us at every point in the Washington conference and that are still plotting to countercheck our progress as a world power.

Senator Walsh remarked that reservations necessary to prevent misinterpretation and to safeguard the nation are no more indicative of mistrust than is the treaty itself, whereupon the Courier-Citizen hastens to brand the statement as proof that the senator is not up to the Massachusetts standard. Yet it is clear, as the senator alleges, that if the nations involved had mutually explicit faith in one another no treaties would be necessary, to bind them against militaristic policies that would threaten our safety and the peace of the world.

But it is remarkable that Senator Lodge, who now abhors reservations in the four power treaty, was the champion reservationist in opposition to the League of Nations, of which the present treaty may prove to be but a miniature copy.

Any treaty guaranteeing peace on the Pacific may require the United States to send her soldiers to defend the islands of Japan; and if reservations are necessary to make clear the fact that we will never do anything of the kind, then let the reservations be adopted. The safety of the nation requires it.

Although we comply with all our existing treaties, if the republican party should ratify any treaty placing upon us the liability to defend Japan, the democrats would abrogate it as soon as they attained the power. They will never vote to send our military forces to the old world to defend the territory of any militaristic power. That policy, we take it, is not so much a proof of meanness as the opposite is of un-American toadyism to foreign powers.

Therefore the reservations.

PRACTICAL RESULTS LACKING

With the republican party one year in control of the government, its record is now before the country and is certainly disappointing despite all claims to the contrary by its leading representatives. Some steps of a constructive character have been taken but they fall far short of what was expected and of what practical statesmanship would have accomplished.

The ability of individual members of the administrative family may be adequate, but team play is necessary to secure the greatest results and this was conspicuously lacking.

Has the past twelve months been a record-breaker in accomplishment at Washington? Stern critics and students of administrative affairs cannot be deluded by fine speeches in the halls where the senatorial tongue are paraded. Of what avail is a voluble president with facile pen, lavish in the use of adjectives and phraseology, and a cabinet of admirably strong calibre if they cannot enact constructive legislation?

The strife with the "bloke" and other intriguers has been unending and the end is not in sight. The tariff tangles are tangled again, with no really definite program ahead for consideration. The road is not at all clear for the grand republican forward movement so long projected but not yet started.

How can American business men, prompt to act when the pathway is cleared for them, be expected to carry out their campaigns for prosperity with a congress reluctant to aid and a nation filled with gloomy forebodings and discontent with the administration that is in power? Some blame rests with the rank and file, perhaps, but the fact remains that President Harding in his first year as chief executive of the republic, has been tried and found wanting in many of the administrative qualities necessary to successful leadership.

There is a notable lack of practical results in the record of the republican party in its year of administration. The press of the country with one accord is calling upon the president and his intimate official family to exhibit a little more leadership, a sterner determination to put into practice the party sponsorship in government that appears to be needed this year to revive the nation's business and clear the tracks ahead.

ALLEN VS. DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Attorney General Allen in his annual report makes a plea for legislation to prevent district attorneys from not proving cases without the sacrifice of the state.

don of the court after stating a reason that will appeal to the court as consistent with the ends of justice. In view of recent legal scandals in this commonwealth, the recommendation seems to be a good one and in the line of sound public policy. To leave this power in the hands of district attorneys is as has been seen, liable to lead to abuses. Such a change would help to remove a great opportunity for dishonest administration and to prevent the use of money for the suppression of legal cases in the interest of criminals. There is little doubt that such a change in the law would prevent abuses and result in a more uniform administration of even-handed justice.

The attorney general also urges a change in the law that would make it more difficult to appeal cases in which there is no merit with the hope of securing some mitigation of sentences or decision in the higher court. For this reliance has usually been placed on influence exerted on the district attorney's office. It is difficult to curtail the right of appeal in any case, however unimportant, without abolishing the constitutional rights of the defendant.

The attorney general's recommendations are not likely to be given legislative effect this year although that in reference to not pressing cases would have a good effect.

ON BETTER GROUND

The latest report from the financial offices of the badly ailing Boston Elevated Railway indicates better times ahead and in the near future, too, for this institution which has been hitting the rocks of hard times for some years past. Unless Mayor Curley succeeds in shattering the trustees' plans, the road will begin next summer to liquidate its indebtedness of more than $1,000,000 to 14 communities which it serves. Already the treasurers of some of these anxious communities are manifesting keen interest in the possibility of obtaining "a little on account." It is figured that $1,000,000 expenditure adds 57 cents to the Boston tax rate, whereas the Elevated actually owes the city of Boston nearly $3,000,000. In the next year or two, payments by the Elevated are likely to be a factor in the fixing of Metropolitan Boston tax rates.

On Feb. 1 a deficiency of roughly $500,000 existed in the Boston Elevated's reserve fund. Surplus earnings of February, March and April should be sufficient to restore this shortage and thus bring the reserve fund up to the legal $1,000,000. Counting upon May and June each to provide $250,000 surplus after dividends, the road would have as of July 1, $500,000 with which to make an initial payment on its big loan. The Elevated receipts are now running so strongly ahead of expenses as to promise liquidation of its $1,000,000 debt much sooner than seemed possible one year ago.

JUVENILE FORGER

A juvenile forger in held by the Boston police. Although only 12 years old, his talent for forging penmanship is so remarkable that he is compared to Jim the Penman.

The juvenile court should sentence this lad to a trip to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for a talk with the white-haired master forgers. What the lad would hear from them about crime not paying would do him more good than any other sentence the court might impose.

A defect of the law is that it doesn't nullify the inevitable future to the budding gangster. The average gun-toter could be cured by being compelled to witness an execution.

DANCE HALL

Dance hall managers who want to conduct decent places are opposed to the pass-out check, which may be given to any shady character on the street, thus giving undesirable or dangerous persons a passport into a dance hall, among respectable people. The pass-out check should be prohibited. Any action that will throw greater protection around the young people admitted to dance halls will be approved by the general public.

Judge Knight finds more evidence of a liquor trust in Lowell and it would appear that drunkenness is on the increase. The number of arrests for the past two months indicates that drunkenness is on the increase in spite of the claim that the saloons are not doing business.

SEE the agencies provided for settling labor troubles seem to have accomplished nothing in this city.

No true friend of Ireland will aid either side in a conflict that may end in fratricidal strife.

Some city departments may as well realize now that they will have to get along with less money than they used last year.

Recent elections in republican states show democratic victories which is an indication of the trend of public sentiment.

Perhaps the park board will give notice that hawking men are the best ten climbers, according to civil service tests made at Worcester.

Under the charter, the mayor's power of appointment is subject to the approval of the council except in case of the city collector. There is no such office provided for as superintendent of ash collection.

A Gripe Concern

Smith bought a business through an agent as a going concern. After six months he failed, but took his trouble very lightly. Making the agent some time later he said: "Do you remember getting me a business as a going concern?" "Yes, of course, I do," replied the agent. "Well," said Smith, "it's gone."

A Word A Day

Today's word is Chevalier. It's pronounced "chee-a-lee" with accent on the last syllable. It means a nobleman, a chivalrous man, a cavalier, a gallant, a "perfect gentleman." It comes from French "chevalier," a knight. It's used like this—"To make a good impression on women, you should have the manners of a chevalier."

Andalusian Brethren

Joseph King, the novelist, said at a luncheon in Philadelphia: "I'd like to go to Havana again this winter. There's very good bathing there, you know, all the year 'round. I met the other day a young man who had just got back from Havana. 'Did you sport with the breakers?' I said to him. 'I should think so,' said he. 'A couple of beautiful Spanish dancing girls from Malaga. They broke me in about three days.'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Some Old Language

It is recorded that a certain literary man of high reputation had occasion to remark to a waiter in the restaurant where he sometimes lunched: "Waiter, this breakfast is not at all tender, I can hardly eat it." The waiter looked at him with a sorrowful expression and sighed deeply. "Perhaps you will tell me," said the literary man, "why you sigh in that fashion?" "Ah, sir," said the waiter, "I took you for a man who always wrote and said original things, and here you come and say the same things that all the rest of the customers do."—Kitchener Sunday Herald.

Lunching Daintily

A delicate looking girl went into an Atchison restaurant recently and languidly scanned the bill of fare. "She won't find anything she can eat on that thing," thought an Atchison man, who gazed in rapt admiration at her fragile beauty, and thought how he would love to devote his life to providing her with the loveliest wings of chicken, elegant and delicious were discarded by her. The exquisite little thing gave the following order: Spare ribs, sauerkraut, two orders of corn bread, one of molasses potatoes, a piece of mince pie, a glass of milk and a cup of coffee."—Atchison Globe.

Manuscript Fuel

Joe Wagge called round upon his friend Hardupp and found him in a cold attic at work on a mysterious creation. The floor was littered with books and Hardupp was bent over a big wastebasket containing a soggy mass of torn book leaves and water. "Great Scott!" cried Wagge. "What ever are you doing, Hardupp?" "I've given up trying to be an author," explained Hardupp, "and I've discovered a great substitute for coal." "Congratulations!" "You work paper in water," continued Hardupp, "then form it into hard balls the size of a hockey ball. Let them dry, and they burn splendidly. Think of it, old man, all my old returned manuscripts will be enough to keep my room heated through the whole winter."

As Winter Passes

Old Winter's reign is almost o'er
For he is failing fast,
And every minute finds him now
More weak than the last;
His grimy robes are soiled and frayed,
His splendid jewels dim,
And soon the earth with violets
And grass will cover him.

All night above the thawing fields
Has lain a thick white mist,
The sun's bright light with rose
And gold and amethyst.
Before the south wind's magic breath
The vapors heavenward roll
And wafted in the distant blue,
Lo! Winter's passing soul.

LOTUS EATING

with Berton Braley
MIAMI

In Miami, in Miami, when the north is cold and clammy

In the city of Miami it is June;

And the sunny ocean beaches are besprinkled thick with peaches

In the morning and the lazy afternoon.

They are brown—these lovely women, and their suits are made to swim in;

They are healthy—you can see it at a glance—

Yet they show sophistication at the art of mild flirtation

And they shake a snaky slipper in the dance.

In Miami, in Miami, life is soft as softest chamois

(Which is used, of course, to furnish me a rhyme)

And the days slip by in measure to a gay gavotte of pleasure

In this honey-sweet and sunny-tempered clime;

Yet for all its lazy glamor it's a city full of clamor,

Full of hustle and of bustle and of zest,

Where the real-estate hounds you as they eagerly surround you

And the oil-men never give you any rest.

Oh, the grapefruit hang in bunches for your breakfast and your lunches

And the stately palms are rustling in the breeze

And the sea-planes climb the skyways, and the atmospheric byways

Over amethyst and jade and sapphire seas.

Life has neither care nor canker where the white yachts ride at anchor

And the pelicans are skimming to and fro;

Are you seeking rest from worry and from mad frenetic hurry?

Then Miami is the place for you to go.

In Miami motor traffic would disturb a soul seraphic;

There is neither rule nor reason when you drive.

In Miami Bryan's dwelling in beatitude exelling

And his senate boom is very much alive.

It's a warm and friendly city and I gladly pen this ditty

Which will advertise Miami, wholly free,

As the town of joy in plenty and of dolce far niente,

As a magic happy city by the sea.

Another Fatal Shooting in Belfast

BELFAST, March 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Another fatal shooting occurred this morning in the continuation of the disorders which have been in progress several days in Belfast and which resulted in four deaths yesterday. ## Former Official Must Answer Charges

PARIS, March 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Philippe Berthelot, formerly secretary-general of the ministry of foreign affairs, who resigned on Dec. 26 last, has been summoned to appear before a disciplinary board to answer charges relating to the conduct of his office. According to today's newspapers M. Berthelot must explain a telegram which he is accused of having sent on behalf of the French government to the French high commissioner in New York, Maurice Casanave, exhorting him to use his full influence with American banks in order that checks of the Banque Industrielle de China might be met.

Flashboards Are Torn Away

ice, river refuse and white foam.

Lying, thick, across the river, used to hold the flashboards, were bent forward like soft candy sticks. All of the boards on the Lowell side of the river were carried away, only a portion of the flashboard line remaining today on the opposite side.

The flashboards borne away on the river current below the dam, were 16 feet long and about one foot wide. They were bolted to the iron supports, but the structure was not strong enough to hold back the sudden flood of ice floes that followed the sudden breaking of the great ice field above the dam and reaching to a point opposite the ice houses.

A large ice field remains on the opposite side of the river running down to the dam edge, and showed no signs of breaking today.

The water over the dam was higher yesterday than it was today. While the flashboards were in position, the measurement at 9 o'clock yesterday morning was 4½ feet above the cap of the dam. This morning, with the flashboards gone, the water was six inches lower, but coming down fast, and filling up all the rocky area in the river bed that is a familiar sight in the other three seasons of the year.

Only yesterday morning persons walked across the river bed on the rocks below the Moody street bridge. There was no evidence then of any high water on the way.

Heavy Rainfall

The rainfall last evening, the heaviest so far this year in Lowell and vicinity, came between 5 and 10 o'clock, and crippled street railway service on several lines. Ponds of water quickly formed in many sections of the city on mainly traveled highways, and floods of snow and water flooded across sidewalks, choking gutters and "carries" and filling many cellars.

The rain came at the close of a threatening day. An unusual feature of the storm was its area of rather narrow width. Villages beyond the 12-mile limit had but little rain, and the downpour that struck Lowell apparently followed the river as weather experts say when frequently heavy storms hit the river country areas and rarely touch districts far away.

The street railway company was perhaps the hardest hit of any public service corporation by last night's limitation. Clouds and water were damming tracks in many sections of the city were covered several inches deep with water, mud and sand, and pieces of debris caught up by the miniature freshets, were swept across tracks and roadways, blocking traffic in many parts of the city temporarily.

A car was derailed on First street near the car barn, and another carrier left the trolleys a little later on Gorham street. For some time cars were unable to run by Edison cemetery owing to the deep water that gathered there and failed to run off rapidly.

Many of the city's sewers appear to be choked with ice and snow, and other matter swept into the sewerage system also prevents the rapid moving away of surface water.

Trouble was also reported to the railway company from Moody street, Seventh avenue, and in Vernon avenue not far from the Lowell General hospital.

BUSINESS DEPRESSION REACHES BOTTOM

Lecturing before the members of the Men's club of Elliot Union church last evening, Professor Ralph R. Wilson of the Babson Statistical Institution declared that business depression had reached the bottom and while the "upward swing" was not yet underway, it was surely coming. Mr. Wilson's topic was "Business Conditions." He based his talk on an application to business of Newton's law of action and reaction, and on statistical data regarding business of every kind.

The speaker declared that for every period of depression there must be a consequent period of prosperity. Business, he said, moves in well defined cycles, and the character of these, industrial employment changes were described with charts. The professor, in closing, said: "When inefficiency is replaced by efficiency, waste with thrift, immorality with morality, unrighteousness with justice, and dishonesty with honesty, then will the depression end, and when 61 per cent of the people become imbued with that right spirit we will start on our next period of prosperity." After the address, numerous questions were answered by the speaker. An excellent supper preceded the meeting under the direction of a committee of men led by A. J. Thoms. Members of the Highland Congregational Church Men's club were guests.

SAFE STOPPING

Depends on Human Element to Sense Emergency

What is the shortest distance required to stop your car going at a certain speed in an emergency? The answer to this, in the opinion of E. W. Weaver, Cleveland engineer, depends on two things: First—Condition of brakes and the road surface. Second—Time required for the driver to sense an emergency before applying the brakes.

Of these conditions the second is most important, says Weaver. Tests have set certain minimum distances for stopping, based on knowledge of brakes and road surfaces, in relation to the various speeds of the motor car. For instance, 56 feet has been fixed as the minimum distance required to stop a car with good brakes, going 30 miles an hour on a dry, level road.

With poor brakes on a slippery road the distance is 255 feet.

But the human element must also be considered, says Weaver. He figures it takes one-half a second for an experienced driver to sense an emergency before he begins to apply the brakes. In this one-half second of time, at a speed of 30 miles an hour, the car will have gone 22 feet.

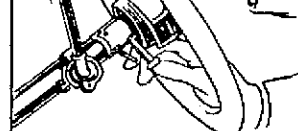

Therefore, in stopping an automobile from a speed of 30 miles an hour, for example, the total distance required would be 108 feet, with good brakes and a dry, level road; 280 feet with poor brakes and a slippery road.

Other distances can be judged with the aid of the chart Weaver has prepared, dependent on the car's speed and the driver's own alertness in sensing the emergency.

BOARD HEARS BRIDGE WRANGLE

Central Bridge Controversy Gone Over at Public Service Board Meeting

Consulting Engineer Says Structure Safe for Any Loads That May Cross It

A more or less exhaustive resume of the operations under the contract for the reconstruction of Central bridge, with lengthy and at times contradictory arguments by attorneys for the Boston Engineering Service and Construction Co., and Major L. B. Moore, consulting engineer for the city, featured the meeting of the board of public service last yesterday.

The meeting was called to order at 4 o'clock and did not adjourn until 8 o'clock.

The board also gave a hearing to representatives of the Improvement Association of precinct 2, of ward 8, on petitions of that body that immediate street improvements be made in the Ayer City district, particularly in Manchester street.

During the discussion of the Central bridge matter Major Moore emphatically stated that the bridge is absolutely safe and capable of carrying any loads that might cross it.

There was considerable controversy on a question of proper setting of concrete on the roadway of the bridge and some damage already sustained due to opening a portion of the bridge to vehicular traffic.

The matter of work on the bridge under the head of extras was argued long and in great detail and when it was apparent that the contractors and the engineering department were at odds regarding many points, Chairman Murphy suggested that both sides get together with the city solicitor and endeavor to iron out the controversy.

The first business taken up was consideration of the loan order to borrow $60,000 for the purpose of exterior improvements at the Memorial Auditorium.

Chairman Dennis J. Murphy desired to hold up approval of the loan for the time being, at least, as there seemed to be some legal questions surrounding it that should be straightened out.

There seemed to be the feeling that perhaps the loan should be presented

We Do Not Recommend Allen's Lung Healer As a Cure for Consumption

But we do claim and have proven times without number that it will prevent the disease in many cases by its remarkable healing and germicidal properties. Its action on the lungs and bronchial tubes fortifies them against attack if used in season. An obstinate lung cough weakens the lungs and opens wide the door for tubercular germs to enter and find lodgment. Allen's Lung Healer cures those obstinate lung coughs, thereby preventing consumption. If your lungs are susceptible to colds, you should take the Lung Healer on the first symptoms of a cold, thereby preventing further trouble.

In three or more separate orders, one to cover sidewalks, one to care for street improvements, and a third to build a retaining wall.

The order was placed on the table for the time being.

Chairman Murphy read a letter from the city solicitor, addressed to former Commissioner Dennis J. Murphy, stating that Commissioner Dana had directed that an examination be held for the position of foreman of streets or sewers.

Inasmuch as the board of public service has made no request for such an examination, Chairman Murphy was instructed to communicate with the city solicitor regarding it.

Ten residents of precinct 2, of ward 8, with Councilor Arthur B. Chadwick, all members of the improvement association of that section, appeared before the board in the interest of necessary street improvements, particularly in Manchester street.

President Ready of the association cited a number of accidents that have occurred in and near the street and said that a great deal of heavy traffic goes through there daily.

Councilor Chadwick briefly outlined the purpose of the hearing and Charles A. Donahue, retained as attorney for the association, also spoke.

It was said by one of the speakers that money has twice been provided for the reconstruction of Manchester street, but that nothing has been done there by the city for more than 30 years.

To smooth-pave the street, Chairman Murphy said it would cost approximately $35,000.

A representative of the Elgin Corp. appeared before the board relative to a gutter attachment to street-sweeping machines. The board will purchase, one of the attachments, the purchase price being $750. A vote authorizing a requisition for its purchase was passed.

The attachment will arrive in the city early next week during the time when the sweepers are being thoroughly overhauled for the spring work.

Chairman Murphy read a letter from the Lowell chamber of commerce offering a survey in suggestion form of bad spots in local roadways. Members of the chamber, who drive automobiles will note all spots that need repair and submit them in recommendation form to the public service board.

The board voted to place the communication on file and will gladly receive any such suggestions.

During a discussion of steam rollers owned by the city, City Engineer Kearney said that an up-to-date scarifier is needed for digging up heavy asphalt.

A survey of local steam roller equipment will be made and a report filed with the board in the very near future.

On request of the board, representatives of the Boston Engineering Service and Construction Co., and Major Moore, consulting engineer for the city, came before the board relative to the present status of the Central bridge.

Chairman Murphy read a letter from the construction company, which stated that additional space on the bridge had been opened to traffic and as a result, considerable damage has been caused to the concrete for a width of about eight feet, because of the fact that the concrete had not set properly before being thrown open for travel. The letter stated further that the contractors would not be liable for the damage caused.

John M. O'Donoghue, counsel for the Engineering Service and Construction Co., outlined the situation on the bridge as it is at present.

Major Moore said that there is no damage to the concrete on the bridge that cannot be readily corrected. He said that he did not believe that the concrete in question had been thrown open to traffic at too early a time and it was his belief that ice and snow and ruts had caused whatever damage exists, plus a heavy concentration of traffic.

Major Moore said that there has been a great deal of unnecessary delay in the reconstruction of the bridge and city to open the bridge at the earliest possible moment.

City Solicitor Tierney asked Major Moore how much it would cost to repair the concrete damage and the latter said about $1000.

The question of payment of bills under the head of extras on the bridge was discussed at length. It was practically agreed that certain time by a certain number of men was consumed on extra work, but against the construction company's charge of $150 per hour per man, Major Moore said it should not be more than 75 cents per hour.

It was finally decided that the parties interested shall get together with the city solicitor and attempt to find a common meeting ground from which a new start may be made toward a decision regarding the payment of money coming under the head of extras.

An opinion of the city solicitor relative to the duties of the board in regard to pole locations, was read, accepted and placed on file.

The board considered the loan schedule for 1912 and the proposed work on sewer, macadam, block paving, bridges and sidewalks for the year, submitted as recommendations by Engineer Stephen Kearney.

Each member of the board will study the report and it will be taken up at a future meeting.

A petition from the Knights of Columbus to extend the white way system in Dutton street, was received and placed on file.

A petition for digging up Woburn street for a sewer construction, was approved.

A permit was issued to Morris Barlofsky to close a portion of the sidewalk in Westford street near Loring street, for building purposes, with the understanding that he provide a temporary walk for pedestrians.

A petition was received from Catharine and Hugh Maguire for a curb-sidewalk in front of 193 and 161 Methuen street.

The petition from the Mt. Pleasant Realty Co. that Baldwin street be laid out and accepted from the angle in said street to Westford street, was filed.

Sam Dean petitioned that the sewer be extended in Upham street.

Before adjournment the board approved monthly bills.

Just what will happen to the bill in the senate appears at this time to be more or less problematical. There the measure will be open to amendment and also to unlimited debate and it is regarded as more than probable that it will be subjected to change in some important particulars. Since President Harding advised the house committee to pay the bonus with a sales tax or postpone the legislation, it is expected that sales tax proposals in the senate will show their fight for that kind of a levy.

Among house members generally there was more discussion today as to how the president viewed the bill than there was about its probable fate after it left the house. Framers of the measure appeared to be fairly confident that it would meet with the executive's disapproval because it removed what they said was the fundamental objection to the cash bonus plan—an immediate drain on the federal treasury.

Some opponents of the measure in the house predicted that the bill would be unsatisfactory to both the country and the service men. They contended that it would not enable the men to get as much cash in three years as they would have received under the original cash plan and that the proposed advance by the banks if made would inflate credits to the extent of half a billion or more dollars over the period of the bank loans, thus increasing living costs.

Proponents of the bank loan plan argued that through this provision the men could obtain immediately a far larger sum than they would have received under the cash installment payments plan originally proposed and this without the imposition of any additional taxes on the country. They contended also that when the treasury could have to begin paying out money it could reasonably be assumed that there would be funds to meet the payments through reduced government expenses and receipts from the refunded foreign loans.

The time of the calling up of the bill in the house will not be definitely fixed until Chairman Fordney returns to Washington from a trip to the middle west.

Teeth People Show and teeth they don't—the difference lies in a new way to combat film

A new method of cleaning has brought prettier teeth to millions. Also cleaner, safer teeth.

You see the results wherever you look. Teeth now glisten which before were dim. They show in smiles now where folks once concealed them.

This is to tell you the reason, then to urge that you make a free test.

found two ways to fight film. Many careful tests have proved their efficiency. Authorities now advise them, and leading dentists half the world over are urging their adoption.

A scientific tooth paste has been perfected to comply with modern requirements. These two film combatants are embodied in it. So one may now attack that film twice a day at home.

The name of that tooth paste is Pepsodent.

So Pepsodent brings a new dental era to people who employ it. It brings five desired effects which old ways do not bring. So millions of people have come to adopt it, largely by dental advice.

They remove the film

These millions have gained whiter teeth by simply combating film in this new way.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not effectively combat it. The tooth brush, therefore, has left much of it intact.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Film is the basis of tartar. That is why teeth become cloudy and discolored. And some teeth—like smokers' teeth—become badly stained.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film. Those troubles have been constantly increasing for lack of a proper film combatant.

Now you can fight it.

Dental science, after long research, has

Other new effects

The saliva contains two great tooth-protecting agents. One is a starch digestant. That is to digest starch deposits on teeth before they ferment and form acids. The other is alkali, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Certain food elements will multiply those tooth-protecting factors. But modern diet often fails to supply those elements regularly. Authority, therefore, desires the tooth paste to apply that stimulation twice a day.

Pepsodent does that. It multiplies both the starch digestant and the alkalis in the saliva. Every application gives these natural tooth-protecting agents many-fold effects.

Means a new dental era

Old-time tooth pastes, based on soap and chalk, depress these factors in saliva. They reduce this tooth-protecting power on which so much depends. And they do not end the film.

One week will bring delightful changes

Pepsodent will quickly prove itself. The changes which you see and feel will very soon convince you.

Present the coupon this week for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch how every use leaves the mouth in fresh, alkaline condition.

One week will show you what this method means to you and yours. Go start the test today.
